Military Relaxes Saigon Curfew

Resume Jobs, Government Workers Told

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The military government Monday relaxed the martial law curfew in Saigon but tightened rules for government workers. It said those who fail to report to their jobs without good reason will be charged with desertion and be punished.

Torn by bloody fighting for 18 hours Friday and Saturday, Saigon was returning to normal. Hours of curfew, established for 7 p.m. to 5 a.m., were eased to the period between midnight and 5 a.m.

Former Defense Minister Tran Trung Dung, a relative of President Ngo Dinh Diem, reported the government had given him permission to bury Diem and the latter's brother, Nhu, in a double funeral. Tran said, however, the government set no date.

Problem For Church

The new military rulers said over the weekend, Diem and Nhu had committed suicide in captivity of rebel troops. But more credence was given to unofficial accounts that said Diem was shot and Nhu stabbed to death by the rebels.

The situation presented a problem for the Roman Catholic Church. Catholic procedure forbids burial in consecrated ground for persons who have committed suicide.

Dung said, however, that a priest had administered the last rites of the Church over the bodies of the two brothers Sunday morning at St. Paul's Hospital. Dung said he had seen the bodies and that Diem's face appeared calm in death and that Nhu seemed to be smiling.

Saigon Returning To Normal
Saigon was beginning to bustle again with normal, everyday activity. Businesses reopened and government offices functioned again.

Repair crews were putting up power and telephone lines knocked down Friday night by heavy gunfire.

Most officials of Diem's government were back at their desks but taking orders from a new committee of generals who took over Saturday. They are expected to name a new government of civilians within a week. The military, however, is expected to name a new government of civilians within a week. The military, however, is expected to retain real power at least until new elections can be held.

Extra Dividend Declared By GM

NEW YORK (AP)—General Motors Corp. voted stockholders Monday a special year-end extra dividend of $1.50 a share, a distribution amounting to more than $425 million.

The payment was in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share to be paid Dec. 10 to shareholders of record Nov. 14.

Thus the board of directors allocated a total of $568 million from earnings.

The payment will bring total dividends paid this year by GM, the world's largest industrial concern, to $4 for each of its 286 million shares.

The payout reflects an auto industry boom that has broken production, earnings and sales records on all sides and prompted Chrysler Corp. last month to double its dividend and split its stock 2 for 1.

The 1963 dividend payments by GM will be the highest in the corporation's 55-year history.

Bandit Shot, Policeman Wounded

Patrolman Thomas Keating holds down a wounded gunman as his partner, patrolman James Finnegan (left), who suffered a superficial wound, stands by with drawn gun. The bandit was one of three gunmen who held up the Lincoln National Bank at Chelsea, Mass. One other gunman was captured and the third made a getaway by hopping a metropolitan transit train.

Hope Of Finding More Trapped Miners Dashed

BROISTEDT, Germany (AP)—Hope of finding more miners alive in a flooded iron mine here was officially abandoned early Tuesday.

Another 11 miners—miraculously alive—were awaiting rescue in another shaft two miles away.

Late Monday, rescue workers thought they heard three signal knocks from men trapped in an air bubble. A test bore carrying a highly sensitive microphone was sunk at top speed.

Mine director Dr. Peter Ferling said, "there was no reply and there was no life found there. All that could be heard was the dripping of water."

Boring started Sunday night after experts figured out that an air pocket probably formed there when the mine flooded after a dam burst.

The life line for the other 11 was a narrow shaft, drilled Sunday to the chamber where they are trapped 196 feet under the surface.

Through it they were being fed grated carrots, chicken broth, porridge and tea with glucose. They also got lamps, underwear, warm socks and air cushions. They are in touch with the surface through a telephone link.

With them are the bodies of 10 of their comrades, killed when the mine flooded Oct. 24. Nineteen other miners are missing and presumed dead, 86 escaped when the flood hit and three others were rescued after a shaft was bored to them last Friday.

"They are laughing and joking. They are just like little boys," said Mrs. Siegfried Ebeling, 27, wife of one of the trapped men. She spoke with her husband through the telephone link.

Pope Paul, Citing Priest Shortage, Issues Appeal

VATICAN CITY (AP)—With the Roman Catholic Church reporting severe shortages of priests in many parts of the world, Pope Paul VI appealed Monday for more students for the priesthood.

The appeal came in an apostolic epistle addressed to all bishops. Pope Paul called the letter, titled in Latin "Summi Dei Verbum"—the Word of Supreme God—the first of its kind and importance of his reign.

In the letter the pontiff: —Urged parents, priests and all those with responsibility over youths to send them to religious institutions as soon as they show signs of aspiring to the priesthood.

—Asked for tougher standards in the selection of student priests to prevent what he

Cost Of Dying To Be Included In Living Cost

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government is going to start counting the cost of dying as part of the cost of living next year.

"There's a lot of interest in this," said asst. commissioner Arnold Chase of the Bureau of Labor Statistics in confirming that funeral costs will be added to food, rent, clothing and other selected items in the bureau's Consumer Price Index starting next January.

Actually, Chase said, the bureau made the decision nearly a year ago "before all this furor came along."

The furor he referred to is comment and controversy stirred by two recent books, "The American Way of Death" and "The High Cost of Dying," and a number of other publications, plus television treatment.

Crash Kills 2 On School Bus

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. (UPI)—A tractor-trailer loaded with diesel fuel jack-knifed on a curve into the path of a school bus on busy U. S. 21 near here late Tuesday. The bus driver and one of his five passengers were killed and the truck driver and four children injured.

The head-on collision nearly tore off the front end of the bus and split open its top. The truck plunged part-way down a 40-foot embankment after spewing fuel along the highway. Killed apparently instantly was bus driver Wayne Eaton, 35.

Sharon Davis, 14, who apparently had come to the front of the bus preparing to leave it at her home a short distance down the highway, died a short time later.

Balloting Today To Be Watched For '64 Omens

WASHINGTON (AP)—Politicians look for possible handwriting on the wall—though perhaps sketchy—in scattered elections across the country Tuesday.

Attention centers on a warm fight for the Philadelphia mayor's chair, and headline contests for the governorships of Kentucky and Mississippi. In each of the campaigns the subject of Negro civil rights has figured, though in different ways.

Hundreds of mayors are being chosen, along with other city or state officials, and members of four state legislatures—Kentucky, Mississippi, New Jersey and Virginia.

In Philadelphia, Democratic Mayor James H. J. Tate is favored to win over Republican challenger James T. McDermott, though probably by a much smaller margin than Democrats usually enjoy.

Tate is caught between conflicting pressures in a city made uneasy by racial tension and occasional violence. Some Negro leaders feel Tate has dragged his feet in meeting their demands; some whites complain he has yielded too easily to Negro militancy.

In Kentucky, a big issue is which gubernatorial candidate—Democrat Edward T. Breathitt Jr. or Republican Louie B. Nunn—can build up the state economically. Nunn has said also "I am running against the Kennedys and what they stand for."

In Mississippi, the Kennedy administration cannot win, however the election goes. The two major candidates for governor—Lt. Gov. Paul B. Johnson Jr., Democrat, and Rubel Phillips, Republican, vie with each other in being hotly anti-Kennedy and anti-integration.

The main interest centers on the fact that the Republicans are conducting their first all-out gubernatorial drive since Reconstruction. If they roll up a big vote, it will hearten Republicans elsewhere in Dixie.

Explosions And Fire Wreck Oxygen Plant

TAUNTON, Mass. (AP)—A $100,000 fire spread by a series of explosions wrecked the 1½-story frame plant of Taunton Oxygen Co. late Monday and shattered windows in nearby buildings.

John Charves, owner of the company, said damage would range between $100,000 and $150,000.

Frank Crovello, assistant manager, suffered burns of the hands carrying out personal files. Otherwise, there were no reports of injury.

West Takes Serious View Of Challenge

Consultations Begin On Next Allied Step To Meet New Crisis

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The State Department said Monday night that the Berlin highway blockade of U.S. troops had "assumed quite serious dimensions" in challenging Western access rights to West Berlin.

U. S. officials said allied consultations were continuing here and in Bonn, Germany, on what the next Western step would be.

Though an earlier blockade of an American troops convoy Oct. 10-11 was officially termed a possible "misunderstanding," officials made clear they had no doubt the current delay was ordered by the Kremlin.

Russ Armor At Checkpoint

The statement of the seriousness with which Washington regarded the latest blockade was issued to newsmen after the appearance of Soviet armored vehicles at the Russian checkpoint.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk called in the ranking Soviet Embassy official to make the charge after the Russians held up a U. S. Army convoy bound for Berlin and said they had the right to determine how convoys should be processed.

Before meeting with acting embassy Chief Georgi M. Kornienko, Rusk and Llewellyn Thompson, former ambassador to Moscow, conferred at the White House with President Kennedy.

Procedure Followed For Years

After the Rusk-Kornienko conference, State Department spokesman Richard L. Phillips told a news conference that the allies were following practices which have existed for years—"practices which the Soviets appear to be trying to change."

Rusk made this point to Kornienko. The secretary demanded an explanation of the new blockade—the third in less than a month—and asked the Russians to free the convoy. Phillips referred to Rusk's talk with Kornienko as a discussion, not a protest.

Kornienko was said to have told Rusk that he knew nothing about the incident and would relay the secretary's message to Moscow. Kornienko declined to discuss the meeting with newsmen.

Fighting Ceases On Desert Front

FIGUIG, Morocco (AP)—Both sides ceased firing on the disputed Morocco-Algeria frontier Monday. A precarious calm settled over this Moroccan oasis where three days of artillery and mortar shelling took 20 lives and wounded 20 civilians.

At 10:30 a.m., Algerian troops on surrounding mountain ridges received a radio order to stop shooting. The order was issued after the arrival of a Mali Republic staff officer dispatched to supervise the truce.

The frontier passes between two mountain ridges southeast of the center of Figuig. Three miles beyond the frontier is the Algerian town of Beni Ounif. The Algerians charged that the Moroccans have been shelling Beni Ounif.

Both sides reported that fighting had stopped along the entire front for the first time since the undeclared Sahara war broke out Oct. 8.

Each side blamed the other for truce violations and demanded that the matter be investigated by the neutral truce commission of officers from Mali and Ethiopia.

18-Year Vet Gets Draft Warning

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP)—Denver R. Evans Jr., of Oak Hill, W. Va., carries 18 years' worth of hash marks on his sleeve and a warning on his draft board in his pocket.

Evans' draft board in Fayetteville, W. Va., advised him to register for the draft by last Saturday. The 35-year-old veteran of a World War II and Korea is now a specialist fourth-class stationed at Ft. Meade, Md.

He didn't show up in Fayetteville Saturday but says he'll probably write the board a letter bringing it up to date.

His records show he registered with the Fayetteville office May 24, 1945. He was drafted a few months later.

Charged With Arson

Leland Soule, 27-year-old Pontiac, Ill., auto mechanic, points to spot in kitchen where he told authorities he piled trash and started a fire in a scheme to collect insurance. Three of his five children died in the fire last January 16. Soule has been charged with arson and authorities say he may be charged with murder. (Story at bottom of page)

Mrs. Nhu, Children Will Meet In Rome

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI)—Mme. Ngo Dinh Nhu will fly to Italy Wednesday to rejoin her three younger children who are on their way from South Viet Nam to Rome, she announced through a spokesman Monday night.

The deposed first lady of South Viet Nam said she received a telegram from the U. S. State Department advising her that her three youngest children who range in age from 4 to 15 were en route from Saigon to Bangkok in Thailand from where they would be flown to Rome. Her eldest daughter, Le Thuy, 18, is with her here.

Wife Told Nhu 'Brutally Killed'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu was informed by a top Vietnamese general Monday that her husband and her brother-in-law were "brutally killed" in the military coup which overthrew the ruling family of South Viet Nam Friday, an aide reported.

Col. William K. Eliscu of New York City, the aide, said Mrs. Nhu was told in a telephone call from Saigon that her husband, political strongman Ngo Dinh Nhu, died of stab wounds.

South Viet Nam's new military junta had announced after the coup that her brother-in-law, President Ngo Dinh Diem, and Nhu had committed suicide.

But other sources in Saigon said the men had been killed by the insurgents.

Eliscu said he did not know the name of the general who telephoned Mrs. Nhu.

Mme. Nhu's aides immediately began to arrange transportation for her to Rome and said she would leave Wednesday.

Her spokesman said Mme. Nhu talked on the telephone with "an assistant secretary of state" in Washington after she received the telegram.

Mme. Nhu had asked the State Department Sunday to guarantee her safe conduct to go to Saigon to pick up the children, or as an alternative she asked the State Department to arrange their transportation to Rome.

Transportation of the young children to Rome eliminated any plans for South Viet Nam's former first lady to return to Saigon, the spokesman said.

Also discarded were her plans to move from her Beverly Hills hotel suite to a private home in this area.

The three younger children were reported safe at a resort outside Saigon after Mme. Nhu's husband and her brother-in-law President Ngo Dinh Diem were slain in a revolt of the armed forces against their government.

Mme. Nhu's father, Tran Van Chuong, former ambassador to the United States and a political foe of the deposed Diem government, made a surprise visit to her hotel suite Monday morning.

Three Children Slain, Dad Tries To Kill Himself

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Two young boys and their sister were stabbed to death Monday in their suburban Etna home. Their father was found unconscious in an auto. Police said he attempted to take his own life by running a hose from the exhaust pipe to inside the car.

Detectives were unable to question George Vidovich, a 35-year-old machinist. He was in serious condition at St. Francis General Hospital. His wife, Jean, is a patient in the same hospital with tuberculosis.

Mrs. Sara Kunz, neighbor, found the children—George Jr., 14, Richard, 9, and Joann, 11—in their beds after she received a call from relatives who said repeated telephone calls to the Vidovich home brought no response.

She said she found an unsigned note on the dining room table. It read:

"This is the only way out. This is not your fault."

Hospital authorities said Vidovich was told Sunday to have his children's chest X-rayed. The X-rays were not taken.

Mrs. Vidovich, 33, was taken to the hospital last Thursday where it was discovered she had tuberculosis. She's in fair condition.

Father Sets Fire, Killing 3 Children, For Insurance

PONTIAC, Ill. (AP)—Authorities said Monday an automobile mechanic has related setting his home on fire, killing three of his five children, in a scheme to collect insurance.

Leland Soule, 27, was charged with arson in connection with the fire Jan. 16, 1963, in his rented home at 326 Timber St.

A second charge of arson also was filed against Soule and his wife, Linda, 25, as a result of the fire on Oct. 24, 1960, in another Pontiac home which the couple occupied.

Investigators said Soule related both fires were touched off to collect insurance on livings in the homes.

Soule was held in the Livingston County jail under $60,000 bonds.

Authorities said Soule also

Soviets Seal Off Autobahn To Stop Dash

Armored Vehicles Are Driven Across Road To W. Berlin

BERLIN, Tuesday (AP)—Three Soviet armored personnel carriers blocked a U.S. Army convoy when it tried at midnight Monday to break through to West Berlin at the Autobahn checkpoint at Marienborn, a U.S. Army spokesman said Tuesday. The convoy had been delayed since early Monday morning.

A U.S. Army spokesman said the blocking of the convoy by armored cars and sedans was a "flagrant violation of the Western Allies' unrestricted right of access to Berlin, for which action the Soviets must bear the full responsibility for any consequences."

The army said the convoy had moved forward about a quarter of a mile when the Soviet armored cars were driven across the road.

Will Write Rules, Soviets Say

It was the third such delay in a month and the Russians warned Monday that they, not the western allies, will write the rules for the autobahn between Berlin and West Germany.

The convoy was returning to Berlin from training in West Germany.

In Washington, Secretary of State Dean Rusk called in the Soviet charge d'affaires, Georgi M. Kornienko, and expressed U.S. concern about delaying of the convoy. He asked Russia to permit the convoy to move.

The U.S. garrison in Berlin called off maneuvers set for Tuesday morning, presumably to be in a state of preparedness.

The U.S. convoy of 12 vehicles carrying 44 men was held up at 8:01 a.m. at Marienborn, the Soviet checkpoint at the western end of the 110-mile superhighway through Communist East Germany to Berlin. The convoy was returning to Berlin from training in West Germany.

Refuse To Dismount

The Soviet officer in charge, a Lt. Col. Spiridonov, demanded that 15 passengers in three of the trucks dismount and be counted. Lt. John Lamb of North Augusta, S.C., the convoy commander, refused.

This was the issue in the dispute that caused the Soviets to block two U.S. convoys Oct. 10 and 12 and a British convoy Oct. 16.

The Allies told the Soviets on Oct. 29 under what conditions they would dismount troops from convoy vehicles.

But the Soviet colonel, maintained that it "is the Soviet and not the Allied authorities who determine convoy procedures," an American Army spokesman reported.

Maj. Gen. James H. Polk, U.S. commander in Berlin, ordered his liaison officer at Marienborn to tell the Soviets that no one but the Western Allies determine convoy procedures.

Senate Demos Elect Valeo As Secretary

Kennedy To Help Open Md.-Del. Pike On Nov. 14

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy accepted Monday an invitation to take part in the opening of the $100-million Maryland-Delaware Turnpike Nov. 14.

The invitation was extended by Gov. J. Millard Tawes of Maryland, Gov. Elbert N. Carvel of Delaware, and Sen. Daniel B. Brewster, D-Md., during a call at the White House.

The date for opening of the turnpike was fixed for the convenience of Kennedy. He is to speak before the annual convention of the AFL-CIO in New York Nov. 15, the day originally contemplated for the turnpike opening.

Gen. Lemnitzer Praises Airlift

PARIS (AP) — Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer praised Monday the swift airlift of a U.S. division from the United States to Germany and said its implications "have been clearly noted by potential aggressors."

The supreme allied commander in Europe said, however, that such operations as last month's Exercise Big Lift are no substitute for a strong and well armed front line in meeting a surprise enemy attack.

The American general called the mobile forces of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization a valuable addition to collective security and asked member nations to bolster it with more supporting units. Six nations now have assigned men to the mobile forces.

Speaking to the ninth annual conference of members of parliament from the 15 member-nations, Lemnitzer termed Big Lift a most impressive demonstration of America's ability to provide rapid air and ground reinforcement to forces already in Europe.

The governors said the ceremonies would take place at 4 p.m. on the Mason-Dixon Line between Elkton, Md., and Newark, Del.

The jointly-financed toll road consists of 12 miles in Delaware and 53 miles in Maryland.

When it is opened, it will be possible to drive from Washington, D.C., to New York without encountering a stop light. The only required stops will be to pay tolls.

Carvel, asked whether the governors talked politics with Kennedy, replied: "We always talk politics when we see the President."

Carvel said he believes Kennedy will carry Delaware in 1964 by a bigger margin than in 1960.

Tawes and Brewster remained behind after Carvel left the White House. They were asked whether any agreement was reached on a Democratic Senate candidate. Tawes grinned and said he didn't want to talk about that, but after a pause added: "We came to no conclusion."

Brewster said he told Kennedy he thought the President would carry Maryland again in 1964.

Whisky Still Seized, Two Men Arrested

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — State and federal tax agents seized a whisky still in Cecil County Monday and arrested two men on charges of moonshining.

Kenneth F. Stewart, agent-in-charge of the Maryland Alcohol Beverage Tax Enforcement Unit, identified those arrested as John C. Holbrook, 61, of Route 2, Elk Neck, and Lewis Ray Kirk, 24, of Edgewood.

Stewart said the still, a steam boiler rig, had been in operation for three hours and 45 minutes and was "just getting up to provide rapid air and ground reinforcement to forces already in Europe."

S&L Defendants 'Lied' Via Mails, Trial Jury Told

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The government charged Monday defendants in the Maryland savings and loan mail fraud case set up a "sham insurance company" because they needed to use the magic words "deposits insured" in advertising of a savings association under their control.

"They lied to the public and they used the mails to do it," said Assistant U.S. Attorney Stephen Sachs in his opening statement to a jury of 11 men and a woman in U.S. District Court.

Sachs said the government would prove that two big operators in the financial field—C. Oran Mensik of Chicago and D. Spencer Grow of Provo, Utah—hid their control of Security Financial Insurance Corp., of Maryland in an involved international set-up.

The third defendant on trial here—attorney Henry McGurken of Chicago—did the work of hiding the ownership of Security Financial through the foreign corporations, Sachs said.

All three of the defendants pleaded innocent at the outset of the proceedings which were moved to Richmond from Baltimore. The cases of two other defendants, including A. Gordon Boone, the self-suspended speaker of the House in the Maryland Assembly, will be decided in Baltimore.

Mensik, acting as his own counsel, told the jury he did not have control of now-defunct Security Financial. He also said he was being persecuted by the government and had been drawn into a political feud brewing in Maryland.

NYC To Use New Message Device

NEW YORK (AP) — Alfred E. Perlman, president, said Monday the New York Central Railroad has developed a device that will permit $300,000-a-year savings in the cost of transmitting about 700,000 messages annually.

The machine, called an "intercoupler," will be used starting next March in the Central's nine-state internal communications system.

Perlman described it in Paris, France, at an international symposium on railroad technology. He heads the U.S. delegation to the conference.

Perlman said the intercoupler automatically translates data from punch card to teletype and from teletype to punch card, short-cutting time-consuming manual code versions before and after each teletype transmission.

The world's earliest bank notes were issued by the Bank of Sweden in 1661.

"Other Woman" Angle Raised At Lawyer Trial

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — The state charged Monday that sex, in addition to money, was a key motive in the "murder for hire" slaying of Mrs. T. Eugene Thompson, wife of a prosperous St. Paul criminal attorney.

Prosecutor William Randall raised the "other woman" angle for the first time in court in a sensational opening statement to a jury trying Thompson, 35, on first-degree murder charges, for allegedly arranging his attractive wife's brutal beating and stabbing murder.

Originally, Randall told the six-man, six-woman jury, Mrs. Thompson was to have been knocked unconscious with a rubber hose, stripped, and placed in a filled bathtub in the fashionable Thompson home to make the death appear an accidental drowning.

This plan was launched, Randall said, not just so Thompson could collect the more than a million dollars in insurance he had taken out on Mrs. Thompson's life, but so that he could marry another woman he had been seeing illicitly.

The slight, crew-cut defendant stared at the floor as Randall read the indictment.

The other woman was not identified by Randall except as the mother of three and a former secretarial employee in Thompson's law office. Randall said Thompson financed her training in secretarial school and took numerous trips with her.

"We will show," the prosecutor said, "that the man married to Carol Thompson advised another woman back in early 1962 'just give me 11 months' to arrange affairs so that he could marry her. Mrs. Thompson was killed March 6, 1963."

The prosecutor named Norman Mastrian, 39, ex-boxer, as Thompson's agent in arranging the killing. Randall said Mastrian received $2,500 in $100 bills indirectly from Thompson, and hired the killer after three others had turned down the job.

Mastrian and Dick W. C. Anderson, 35, are being held on first-degree murder charges in Mrs. Thompson's death.

Car, Driver's Body Found In C&O Canal

WEVERTON, Md. (AP) — The body of Edward J. Beaton, 39, of Riverdale, Md., was found Monday morning in a car overturned in the C&O Canal.

The Washington County sheriff's office said the car apparently left Old Harpers Ferry Road, ran off a 21-foot rock embankment and landed on its top in the water across from Harpers Ferry, W. Va.

Sound Sleeper

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Jose Medina Vargas says he left his car parked on a Mexico City street for a short time last week and returned to find it missing, along with his 6-year-old son asleep on the back seat. Car and son were found the next day. The boy told police he had slept through all the excitement.

Upset Winner Slated To Head Greek Regime

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Elder statesman George Papandreou won a surprising personal election victory, and Monday appeared headed toward the prime ministry, a job he held nearly two decades ago.

Papandreou and his underdog center party brought eight years of rightist government to an end in Greece with an upset victory in Sunday's balloting.

His success in Sunday's voting toppled Premier Constantine Caramanlis, but fell short of winning a decisive majority in the country's 300-seat one-house Parliament.

By late evening the distribution of seats had not been completed but a Ministry of Interior source said the likely distribution would be 142 for the Center Union, 128 for Caramanlis' National Radical Union, 28 for the Kremlin-line United Democratic left, and two for the Progressive party.

Plastic Bag Suicide Fails To Keep Identity Secret

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — Mrs. Frances M. Sherrill, about 65, of Hagerstown, Md., almost succeeded in keeping her final secret — her identity.

If she hadn't generously given away a sewing machine before she died last September, she might have accomplished what she tried to do.

Police ran into nothing but dead ends in trying to establish the identity of the woman whose body was found in a downtown Roanoke apartment. The medical examiner ruled death by suicide and said the woman had written a suicide note, placed a plastic bag over her head, and died of suffocation.

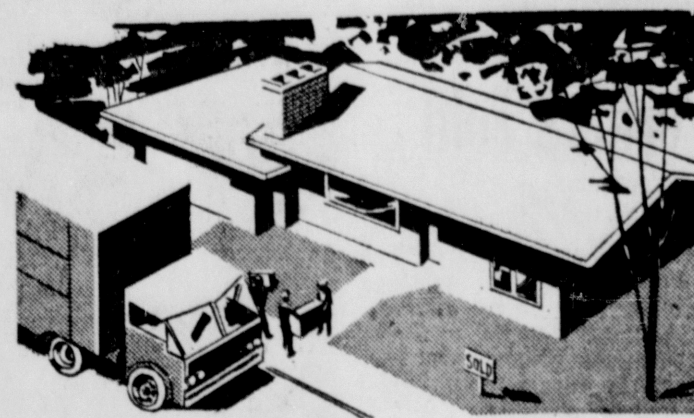

The name she used, Shirley M. Oglethorpe, proved fictitious. All identifying marks and labels had been removed from her clothing, from medicine bottles, and other personal property.

U.S. Bureau of Customs stickers on her luggage were 10 years old and could not be traced. The FBI had no record of her fingerprints.

Then a neighbor remembered that "Mrs. Oglethorpe" had given a sewing machine to another neighbor who had since moved to Louisiana.

From this friend, police secured the machine's serial number, and from the manufacturer they learned it had been sold in Washington to Mrs. Francis M. Sherrill of Hagerstown. Police there, with the aid of a photograph, confirmed the identification. Shirley M. Oglethorpe, proved fictitious. All

Rescue Mission Permit Denied By City Council

The Mayor and Council yesterday denied an occupancy permit to a proposed Union Rescue Mission in a theatre building on Virginia Avenue and the city attorney, Hugh A. McMullen, was instructed to prepare an ordinance "prohibiting such homes within the City of Cumberland."

The motion by Commissioner G. Ray Light was passed 4-1 with Mayor Earl D. Chaney dissenting but adding while he went along with the council motion, he voted no because he felt the action of council, if taken to court, would be overruled. He said he did not feel the city could bar all such homes from the city.

The motion by Light followed a protest by a representative group of business people and citizens of the Virginia Avenue area who had as spokesman George Millenson, South End businessman. A letter in opposition also was submitted and read from Dr. G. Overton Himmelwright, and Paul M. Schwenninger, 210 Virginia Avenue, another businessman, also spoke in opposition.

An organizational dinner for the Rescue Mission was held last Friday at YMCA attended by over 75 laymen and ministers of the area. As proposed, the mission would have had as its superintendent Rev. Cecil L. Taylor of North Carolina, who came here about two months ago from Hagerstown, where he was assistant superintendent of the Union Rescue Mission there. The local site would have been the former New Theatre building.

Millenson, as spokesman for the South End Group, said it was felt South Enders are just as charitable as any one when it comes to giving help but that they "did not want the class of characters which would accompany such a mission to roam Virginia Avenue." Millenson added he was not opposed to the mission if it were located "in the country somewhere."

He said he felt the class of people who would be attracted would be a menace to women and children on the streets of South Cumberland at night.

Millenson further noted the capital investment which had been made in the Virginia Avenue area and the continuing effort to "uplift" the area.

He said the group opposes "bums, canned heaters and trucks" in the center of the South End business area and was asking the cooperation of council in not allowing the mission to be established on Virginia Avenue.

Dr. Himmelwright presented a three-page letter in which he questioned whether the city needs such a mission and why South Cumberland was selected for its site. He said it would be better to locate such a mission, if needed, in a more centralized location or out of the business districts completely.

He defended the status of South Cumberland both from a progressive business district and residential standpoint. Dr. Himmelwright also posed a series of questions in his letter which he felt should be answered prior to issuing permission of a Rescue Mission. These referred to the type of people usually attracted to such a project, the effect on the area in which it is located, the type of personnel which would operate it; and whether those who have been named leaders in the mission movement would allow it to be located next to their homes or places of business.

Dr. Himmelwright said information on the number of men who are seen on the South End Street is wrong and added "These men are no delinquents or alcoholics, but many retired men — good solid citizens of Cumberland — enjoying their retirement years and their pensions."

Light in making his motion

said he believed the city should have some control over what locates here. Commissioner Frederick J. Hill said he would not want such a project next to his home and Commissioner Lucile Roeder said she was certain the city would make a study of any given request.

Light said the reason his motion had been made so broad was that he did not think such a mission is needed. He said not many panhandlers are seen in the city and if the mission is established it will be a "hopping off place" for undesirables.

Commissioner William V. Keegan said he agreed with Millenson that the people of South End are doing a good job and are entitled to this request.

Council Files Costs Reports

The Mayor and Council filed reports yesterday on the costs of a number of sewer and resurfacing projects.

At the same time, it approved an ordinance for the sewer of Golden Lane from Willowbrook Road north a distance of 1,050 feet and said this will be done under the Accelerated Public Works Program of the federal government which has granted the city 50 per cent of the project cost.

Costs reports were filed on the following:
Clement Street sewer from the intersection of Virginia Avenue east 285 lineal feet, total cost $1,562.38 or $3.68 1/2 cents a lineal foot to the property owner.

Resurfacing Wempe Drive from Oldtown Road south 600 feet, total $2,537.38 or $1.12 1/2 cents a lineal foot to the property owner; Fourth Street resurfacing from Grand Avenue to Pennsylvania Avenue, $1,977.82 or 99 cents a lineal foot to property owner; East Street from Reynolds to end, $1,177 or $1.07 a lineal foot to property owner; Windsor Road from Buckingham Road to its end, $6,023.12 or $1.02 1/2 cents a lineal foot to property owner; Linden Street from Frederick Street to Bedford Street, $1,679.40 or $1.35 a lineal foot to property owner; Kiefer Avenue from Washington Street to Fayette Street, $738.56 or 81 cents a lineal foot to the property owner; West First Street, from Springdale Street to Oak Street, $1,629.24 or 83 cents per lineal foot to property owner; Rose Hill Avenue from Allegheny Street to Thompson Avenue, $3,622.16 or 94 1/2 cents a lineal foot to property owner; Reynolds Street from Marion Street to Cumberland Thruway, $1,972.20 or $1.14 a lineal foot to the property owner.

The Golden Lane sewer project had been estimated to cost $10,000 of which the federal government has pledged half. However, the federal government does not share in "other costs" such as surveys, engineering, advertising, etc. In this case, the property owner will pay 100 per cent of the actual cost to the city. He will not pay that share contributed by the federal government.

Quality Control Unit Meeting Set

The Cumberland Section of the American Society for Quality Control will meet Thursday at 6:30 p.m. at the Cumberland Country Club.

Robert M. Archer, manager of quality control of the Hoover Company, North Canton, Ohio, will speak.

The theme of the meeting will be "Management Night", and all plant and quality managers of local industries will be guests.

Archer will speak on "What ASQC Has to Offer Management".

Archer obtained his B.S. degree in engineering administration from Case Institute of Technology, Cleveland, and a Master's business administration in industrial administration and production from Kent State University, Kent, Ohio.

Frederick Chopin, the composer, was known as the Poet of the Piano.

Council Favors Thruway Plan

The Mayor and Council by resolution yesterday dedicated itself to the principles and purposes of the proposed Appalachian Thruway project.

The Thruway, which would generally follow the Route of U.S. 220 from Williamsport, Pa., to Cumberland, is being supported by local and Pennsylvania groups and a caravan tour of the route is to come here November 14 for a briefing of local sources and will go on to Bedford that night for a meeting of Pennsylvania and Maryland officials and local leaders.

Man Sentenced To Jail Term

A Cumberland man was sentenced to 60 days in the Allegheny County Jail yesterday after being convicted of contributing to the delinquency and neglect of a minor girl.

Magistrate Louis Fatkin sentenced the man, William Spangler, 312 Independence Street, following a hearing in Juvenile Court.

The man was arrested over the week end by City Police.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 17-year-old girl who has been dating three different boys this past year. I am not crazy about any of them but I have a stronger pull toward Frank — the one I am figuring to drop. Please tell me if I am wrong. My conscience is killing me.

Frank and I used to have fun together until he started to tell me his troubles. For the past several months he has turned every date into a psychiatric session. He hates his father, he can't stand his mother, his sister dominates him and his brother overshadows him.

I know Frank needs someone to listen to him but I'm not a psychiatrist and I can't give him any answers. He says he loves me and that is reason enough for me to love him in return. I don't love him — in fact, he is beginning to depress me. Please tell me what to do. — SHERRY

DEAR SHERRY: My standard advice is to steer clear of people who have a bad effect on you — this means people who make you feel guilty, ashamed, or depressed.

Frank needs to unload on someone but he should bend a professional ear, or at least a sympathetic one. Tell him goodbye.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My mother-in-law has two poodles which are not trained. She claims these dogs cannot be trained because they are highly nervous and excitable. She has decided to learn to live with it and she expects everyone else to "live with it," too.

My husband and I bought new carpeting last August. When my mother-in-law comes over she always brings the poodles and we just about have heart failure. They have already decorated the carpeting in two places. The damage is behind the sofa, fortunately, and is not noticeable. But now we can't change the furniture around on account of the spots.

Do we have the right to tell my mother-in-law she must keep the dogs in the kitchen? She tried it once and they cried so she let them out. My husband says he will do as you say. — MRS. NEW CARPETING

DEAR MRS. NEW: Your mother-in-law's excuse that the dogs are not "trainable" is applause. What she means is that she cannot or will not train them.

Indeed you do have the right to insist that she keep the dogs in the kitchen. Better they should be crying in the kitchen than you should be crying in the living room.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Last February we moved into a fine neighborhood of lovely homes. The people next door moved into their half-finished home last May — and it still is not finished. Also, they haven't picked up a thing that has been dropped into their yard all year.

Our patio faces their dingy wash which hangs out seven days a week. Every pole, brick, pipe, can, tire and broom that has been dragged into their carport by their kids is still lying around. I see all this junk from my kitchen window.

What can we do? We hate to build a fence tall enough to cut off this disgusting view. The people seem pleasant and we don't want to make them angry. Do you think it would be all right for me to go over and clean up their yard myself? My husband says no. What do you say? — SORE EYES

DEAR EYES: I say no, too. You have no right to go into your neighbor's yard without permission for any reason whatever.

Since the people seem pleasant, why not tell them next Monday is going to be clean-up day "for the neighborhood" and you hope they'll co-operate. When you go out Monday to rake a few leaves or shovel the snow, remind her that "today is the day."

Relax, Refresh Through Reading

How long has it been since you've taken the time to read? Was it yesterday, when you glanced through this newspaper? Was it last weekend, when you skimmed over the articles in a magazine? Was it last summer, when you ploughed through the condensation of a popular novel that had been sold to a movie company?

I'll repeat my question in another way: How long has it been since you began to begrudge the personal investment you must make when you become truly engrossed in a book?

That's the day you stopped reading, as reading is meant to be.

You say you're too busy, you haven't the time. You say you're too tired, that you're too preoccupied with other concerns to concentrate on a book.

You're probably right, to a degree. The quickened pace of modern-day living has an insidious way of gobbling up time, of multiplying distractions and confusion, of leaving a woman totally exhausted. But this is no excuse to stop reading; it is, rather, a reason to revive the habit of regular reading.

Your whole being can be revitalized after just a few minutes spent on worthwhile literature. Fatigue is forgotten when an intelligent mind comes to grips with new ideas, with new meanings and interpretations of old ideas. Sandra Hatch Married In Cumberland

Miss Sandra Hatch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman S. Hatch, Warren, Ohio, was married to Donald Hettler, son of Mrs. Margaret Hettler, Ellport, Pa., and the late Arthur Hettler, November 1. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Everett W. Culp in the First Methodist Church here.

The bride wore a street length dress of white brocade, with a white orchid corsage. Her head-dress was a white net whimsy with white satin floral crown.

Mrs. Grace Davis, aunt of the bride, entertained with a wedding dinner at her home, 119 Frederick Street. She was assisted by Mrs. Donald K. Wilson and Mrs. James Mages. Other guests were the bride's parents, Mrs. Hazel Quinn, Warren, Ohio, grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Bertha Frantz, Cumberland, another aunt of the bride; and Mrs. Agnes Connors, city.

For their wedding trip west, the bride chose a two piece wool dress of fuchsia, accented with pink. Upon their return, the couple will reside at Andrews Air Force Base, Washington, where he is stationed with the Navy.

Rita Edwards Is Bride Of Earl Wesley Hiller

Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Edwards of Grantsville, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Rita Clarice Edwards, to Earl Wesley Hiller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Hiller of Paducah, Kentucky on October 19, at St. John's Methodist Church in St. Louis, Missouri. Mrs. H. Gobel Vick, Huntsville, Ala., was matron of honor, with H. Gobel Vick, best man and Robert Hays, St. Louis, usher.

The bride was attired in an oyster wool knit dress with cranberry accessories and wore a corsage of red roses and carried a white prayer book.

Her matron of honor wore a dark blue knit suit with blue accessories and a corsage of white orchids.

A reception was held in the social room of the church following the ceremony.

Mrs. Hiller is a graduate of Grantsville High School, Sacred Heart Hospital School of Nursing and the University of Maryland. She is employed on the operating room staff of Barnes Hospital in St. Louis.

Mr. Hiller is a graduate of Tilghman High School, Paducah Junior College Paducah, Kentucky and attended Washington University, St. Louis, Missouri. He is employed as an electrical engineer for project gemini at McDonnell aircraft.

Upon returning from their wedding trip in New Orleans and the Gulf Coast the couple will reside in Vinita Park, Missouri.

Attending the wedding from here were, Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil C. Edwards and daughter Carol, and Helen Ann Simpson of Nikep.

Cresaptown Variety Show Bazaar To Be November 15

On November 15, a Variety Show, "Swing-N-Aires" sponsored by the Cresaptown Community Council, will be presented at the Cresaptown School at 7:30 p. m. Tickets for the performance may be purchased from any member of the Community Council.

The Variety Show Chorus of 10 members will present "Hey, Look Me Over," "When the Saints Go Marching In," a South American Medley, and a Salute to "The Music Man." Virginia Hendricks and Joan Maness will present a modern jazz dance, and a clown act comedy number will be given by Louis Zais. From the Broadway show "Gypsy," Virginia Hendricks and George Stein will do "All I Need is a Girl," and "Tonight" will be presented by Richard Ayers vocally and on the bongos. There will be a "Martha and Jenny" skit, a comedy number by Marjorie Carscaden, and "Mira" from the hit show "Carnival" by Jo Ann Gallimore.

Refreshments will be sold. There also will be a bake sale and a bazaar. If anyone would like to donate candy, baked goods, or items for the bazaar, please call Robert Rogers, Lester McGill, Richard Phillips, Robert Cessna, Lorna Rogers, Joanne McGill, Evelyn Phillips, or Edna Cessna, members of the planning committee.

The purpose of this project is to earn money to meet some of the financial cost of leasing or purchasing some land to build a community recreation park area for use of the children and adults in the Cresaptown vicinity.

Minister Praises College President

R. Bowen Hardesty, president of Frostburg State College, who has been under attack by both faculty and students recently, came in for high praise Sunday.

The praise was voiced by Rev. Carlton M. Harris, pastor of Centre Street Methodist Church, who devoted his sermon at the morning worship service to the defense of Mr. Hardesty, whom he charged has "been the victim of needless and unjust criticism."

Describing Mr. Hardesty as "an astute leader and a great American," Rev. Mr. Harris said Frostburg State College has enjoyed phenomenal growth under his leadership.

The transition of a relatively small teachers college to a state college does not come about by accident, nor does a tremendous surge in enrollment. These have come about, the pastor said, because of "dedicated service and able leadership of Dr. Hardesty."

In noting charges of chaos and fear on the Frostburg campus, Rev. Mr. Harris said it is not logical that such charges are true when the college administration has a record of progress and advancement on all levels.

Mr. Harris reported he visited the Frostburg State College campus "a few days ago." He said he "chatted with a few students. There was not the slightest trace of chaos, deterioration, or fear as alleged by certain persons."

"One cannot help but wonder just what sinister objectives are behind this uncalled for and senseless attack on the administration of Frostburg State College," he continued. "Personally, I am more interested in the truth than I am in dramatic stories which make for juicy reading."

Mr. Harris referred to the "Tropic of Cancer," a novel used by some college teachers whose contracts were not renewed last spring. He said he could read no further than the first two chapters.

"If Dr. Hardesty took exception to this book, and banned it from a classroom, then I say, 'Thank God for the president of a college of our state who had the courage to state that such trash and filth had no place in a classroom of the college of which he is president. Let me say that American higher education needs more men with the moral stature and high principles of this distinguished man. If this is what Dr. Howard meant by her reference to 'censorship of text books,' then I say, 'It is tragic that we do not have more censorship in our county, our state and our country.'"

Referring to the resignation of Jerry Howie as Student Government head, the minister said: "It is my humble judgment that no student association has the right to dictate matters on policy to the leaders of an institution of higher learning."

"Let it be emphasized, however, that his resignation comes about not because of pressure applied to him by the administration head but because of his inability of unwillingness to conduct himself in accordance with the high standards of the college."

An accusation that Mr. Hardesty has stifled academic freedom was referred to by the pastor as "groundless and entirely unwarranted."

"Freedom," he pointed out, "whether we speak of academic or political freedom, is never an end in itself, but a means to an end."

"Freedom means independence from unjust restraints, not independence from properly constituted authority. Freedom to the college professor means that he is free to do what is right, but he is not to confuse liberty with license; nor freedom with irresponsibility, nor human rights with their perversion."

In conclusion, Rev. Mr. Harris said Mr. Hardesty "deserves the unqualified thanks and deep appreciation of every citizen for the admirable manner in which he has guided Frostburg State College to the high stature it now enjoys. I salute Mr. Hardesty and I express my deep regret that his leadership has been so unreasonably attacked."

"God give us men, as Dr. Hardesty, who have character, who possess executive ability, who are endowed with courage, who will stand for high principles even when they know that in so doing they will be subject to bitter and unwarranted attack," he concluded.

Drivers Urged To Prepare Vehicles For Bad Weather

Police Chief B. F. Gaffney yesterday urged Cumberland area drivers to prepare their vehicles for winter driving.

He said many drivers have already completed the task of "winterizing" their cars or trucks and urged others to do so while there is still time.

The annual ritual, Chief Gaffney said, involves only minor expense and inconvenience but is excellent insurance against big repair bills and possible accidents. Vehicles which are prepared for the difficult driving conditions which come with ice and snow will be able, he said, to perform satisfactorily when drivers ask them to meet the test.

The Police Department, he said, knows from past experience that the stalling or breakdown of a single vehicle at a crucial time can obstruct vital traffic.

Chief Gaffney suggested that drivers, in addition to putting in anti-freeze and winter-grade lubricants, get:

An engine tune-up, including inspection of the generator as well as the entire electrical system, to assure easier starting and prevent stalling in traffic.

Battery replacement, if there is any hint that the old one could give out at an embarrassing moment.

Replacement of treadless tires, or better yet, equipping rear wheels with snow tires.

Tire chains—to make sure they are ready so that in serious snow and ice conditions your car won't be the one that stops and blocks traffic.

Windshield wiper inspection, both for wiper blade condition and adequate wiper arm pressure.

Heater and defroster system should be checked for peak performance.

Brakes should be inspected to be sure they are working properly.

GOP Delegate Opposes Plan On Exemptions

Bresler Calls Idea Ridiculous

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Republican legislator denounced Monday a proposal to raise funds for public education by lowering the Maryland income tax exemption for dependents from $800 to $600.

Del. Charles S. Bresler, R-Mont., called the plan ridiculous. "Anybody in his right mind knows that it costs more now, not less, to raise children," he said.

A reduction in the amount income taxpayers could claim for exemptions is being considered by the Legislative Council's Committee on Taxation and Fiscal Matters, headed by State Sen. Harry R. Hughes, D-Caroline.

Gov. Tawes directed the committee to prepare a plan, including financing, to substantially increase state aid to local school systems.

Bresler, who heads a special GOP subcommittee studying Maryland's fiscal condition, said the income tax proposal was a "regressive way to tax people that will fall hardest on persons with the least ability to pay."

Hughes has said he favors lowering the amount that can be claimed for exemptions. The Maryland State Teachers Association and the Maryland Municipal League also back a reduction, which would yield an estimated $13.7 million a year.

Bresler said that if new revenues are needed for education, taxes on beer and wine should be increased and a program enacted which would allow Maryland residents to pay the state a percentage of their federal income taxes on a graduated scale.

Paternity Cases Heard In Court

Several paternity cases were tried yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court under a new court proceeding and the defendants who were found guilty were ordered to pay for the support of the children.

Formerly tried as bastardy cases which were placed on the criminal docket, the paternity cases are now placed on the equity docket following the enactment of legislation during the 1963 session of the General Assembly.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris presided at the hearings yesterday. Additional paternity cases are scheduled today in court.

matter, but if after going over material collected at the hearing that additional information was needed they would return for further inquiries.

Mr. Hardesty was called in before the whole committee and Mathias J. DeVito and Comer Coppel of Attorney General Thomas B. Finan's staff, and talked with the committee for approximately 75 minutes. He was smiling when he left the inquiry room on the second floor of the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

The first to testify yesterday were Edwin V. Holland, president of the American Association of University Professors, who asked for a formal hearing by the board of trustees, and Dr. Robert G. Shadick, principal of the College Laboratory School.

Next to appear were Jerry Howie, who resigned last week as president of the Student Government, and Wilbur Berry, acting president of the Student Government. Both students appeared before the full subcommittee.

Splits Into Groups

Following their testimony, the subcommittee split up into two groups in order to be able to hear everyone who wished to appear and testify. Mr. Hopkins and Mr. Coppel conferred in one hotel room, while Mr. Beatty, Mr. Hamill and Mr. DeVito heard testimony in another room. All "important" testimony was taken down by a court stenographer, the committee reported.

Other sessions were scheduled with Ivan C. Diehl, dean of academic affairs; Dr. Alice Manicup, dean of students; department heads and college administrators. After Mr. Hardesty finished testifying at 5:15 p.m., the committee talked with a group of students and other faculty members. Others appearing before the committee were representatives of the Frostburg State College Alumni Association and two campus policemen.

Hearing Slated For Local Youth

Roger Dale Case, 16, of 703 Princeton Street, will be given a hearing in Allegany County Circuit Court on Thursday at 10:30 a. m. on a charge of breaking and entering with the intent to steal goods under the value of $100, authorities said yesterday.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris will hear the case, according to Donald W. Mason, deputy state attorney, who said the defendant will be represented by J. Frederick Sharer, who was court-appointed.

Yesterday Mr. Mason filed a criminal information in Circuit Court after the juvenile court waived jurisdiction in the case.

Young Case was arrested by Lieutenant Thomas J. See who said the youth broke into the A. L. Smiley Shoe Repair Shop, 519 North Centre Street, on October 12.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations. Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinkage) took place.

And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters.

The Communist Threat Persists

Premier Khrushchev's comments on such divergent subjects as his ideological dispute with Communist China and the race to the moon are no cause for comfort. Instead, they add to evidence that he is out to strengthen the Soviet Union's position in the cold war.

Khrushchev's call on Peking to drop its "polemics" was specifically aimed at solidifying the Communist front in this war. This was not a new appeal but it gained a sense of urgency from the likelihood that it would be a prime topic at the conclave of Communist leaders in Moscow for the 46th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution.

Khrushchev's moon remarks also suggest moves to bolster his position against the West. If they mean anything, it is that he is concentrating effort and expenditure on more immediate, and more dangerous, objectives.

In particular, he may be giving priority to orbiting of manned laboratories, which could also conduct a military patrol of the globe. The Soviet Union is believed to have already achieved the necessary rocket thrust, which is much less than that required for a lunar mission. Reduced drain on Soviet resources would put him in a stronger position to pursue other Cold War objectives—including his expressed intention to "bury" us economically.

The upshot is that America remains the Communists' No. 1 target and will remain so.

These Days

By John Chamberlain

Fairness, Ad Infinitum

The Manion Forum of South Bend, Indiana, which specializes in giving voice to good conservatives on its radio and TV programs, is very much worried about the new "fairness" doctrine being emphasized in a recent ruling of the Federal Communications Commission. The doctrine, so Mr. L. F. Reardon, a vice president of the Manion Forum, fears, will be invoked to badger all sorts of right-wingers and keep them from telling their side of the story in their broadcasts.

Well, it's taken long enough for the conservation movement in the United States to make a comeback after the ideological debacle of the Nineteen Thirties, and one can see why conservatives should have gotten into the habit of looking apprehensively over their shoulders. But just how much does the FCC "fairness" rule menace conservative broadcasters? Can't some swift and effective counter remedy be found?

The new "doctrine," as Dean Manion's vice president Reardon puts it, "attempts to enforce an unlawful rule that equal time be given to those who oppose any point of view expressed over radio or TV. This rule, in practice, has been applied only to conservatives . . . left-wing extremists of every ilk are clamoring to 'answer' our program."

Everything that Mr. Reardon says may be true insofar as it applies to his own predicament. But if the conservatives limit themselves to the defensive in this matter of protesting the "fairness" directive, which was issued on July 26, they are bound to lose the fight.

It seems to this columnist, who listens sporadically to both TV and radio political programs, that for every conservative on the air, there are at least three "liberals," to use the word in its contemporary sense. Now, obviously, if the "fairness" criterion is to be applied with any fairness by the FCC commissioners, this means that conservatives would have the opportunity to cash in on a ratio that is 3-to-1 in their favor.

What they should do to combat any adverse application of the "equal time" policy is to organize a domestic monitoring service comparable to the one maintained by Radio Liberty for keeping tabs on what is being said on the air inside Russia. Every time a conservative individual or organization is mentioned in a derogatory way by a liberal commentator, the monitoring organization could tip somebody to complain loudly and at length. The demand for "equal time" would absolutely swamp the "liberals" since they have more programs going for them anyway.

Just think of the ensuing chaos if the "fairness" doctrine were enforced to the letter of a crazy law. Anytime the "Birchers" are decry by somebody, the chief of the John Birch Society, Robert Welch, could demand the right to answer. The New York Conservative Party, in its effort to field the attacks made on it over the air, would have a 24-hour job on its hands. But it would also have a 24-hour opportunity to get its own publicity. And the U.S. Congress, to back up the ruling of the FCC, would have to legislate a change in the calendar to put forty-eight hours into every official radio or TV day.

The way to have any palpably absurd ruling or law taken off the books is to campaign for its complete and impartial enforcement. If conservatives will only get on the ball about this, they can have the FCC sprinting to take cover. If nobody can mention a person or an organization on the air without guaranteeing equal time for reply, how could the Messrs. Huntley and Brinkley ever put on a show? How could Walter Cronkite say anything pertinent? How could Howard Smith operate?

The FCC ruling is particularly silly coming in a year when various political parties and personalities are revving up for their campaigns. Before November of 1964 is here everybody will be mentioning everybody. There simply aren't enough airwaves or hours to go around to permit a just enforcement of the "fairness" doctrine. And we are certain the FCC doesn't want to give all that free time to the John Birch Society, anyway.

How Should Fulbright Speech Be Interpreted?

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — An unprecedented method of attack has been employed to influence General de Gaulle to change the policies of the French government so they will be more pleasing to the United States government.

Senator J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas, who is chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee of the United States Senate, has just made a speech that expressed views which, it might have been expected, would be uttered only by the President or Secretary of State. For the Executive Branch of the government has heretofore jealously guarded its prerogative to conduct foreign relations.

It is conceivable, of course, that the Fulbright speech was cleared in advance by the Department of State. For it would seem incredible that a speech of this importance, attacking an allied government, would be made without the knowledge and consent of the Executive Branch of our government. But is President de Gaulle now to regard the Fulbright speech as the expression of the United States government?

Senator Fulbright's words were bluntly expressed. He said, for instance:

"It is on this level of practical co-operation that French policy has been deeply disappointing to France's allies. It is a policy which, if long continued, could lead to the disruption of the Western Alliance, not by open repudiation but by abnegation in detail."

This is a very serious charge to be leveled at the head of a government allied with the United States. But more surprising is the statement that France's policy has been disappointing not only to the United States but to France's other allies. This will be disputed to some extent in Europe, but in this country it will be wondered why the chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate is privileged to speak in behalf of any of the allied governments.

When the leader in the French or British parliaments makes a speech, he is talking as the head of both the government and the legislative branch. But in the United States, where Congress and the executive are separate institutions, it has always been taken for granted that communications to other governments would be handled only by the President or the Secretary of State.

Another surprising thing about the speech is that it was given on October 30, but discussed statements made by President de Gaulle at a news conference on July 29 last. It thus has the appearance of a carefully prepared attack, which may have been assigned to Senator Fulbright to carry out.

This will not assist in the solving of difficulties between the United States and France. In fact, word has come from Paris that President de Gaulle has abandoned any idea of visiting the United States during the next several months, as had been previously reported.

Perhaps the most extraordinary part of the Fulbright speech is that in which he directed his remarks at President de Gaulle personally. Chairman Fulbright said:

"I don't believe that President de Gaulle is disposed at present to take such a dispassionate view of American policy. One perceives in his remarks of July 29 that he is still looking at America through the distorting prism of wounded pride."

It is significant that in this same speech the Arkansas Senator made a reference to France's unpaid debt from World War I to the United States. The total still unpaid, together with interest, amounts to more than $6 billion, of which $4.3 billion was due as of June 30, 1963. Mr. Fulbright referred to it as a "default since June 1933."

This reminder that France owes the United States money was followed by Mr. Fulbright's remark

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathart

MAJOR SHIFT — There are clear indications that the federal government may be planning a major shift in its scientific research programs — away from military emphasis and toward benefiting humanity.

Dr. Linus Pauling, Nobel Prize winning scientist, captured the attention of his audience when he departed from a prepared lecture and spoke to the centennial meeting of the National Academy of Science about overemphasis on the current Moon shot effort. Pauling received a hearty round of applause and the personal congratulations of many scientists at the conclusion of his remarks.

Pauling's attitude was indirectly reflected in something President Kennedy told the same meeting a short while later. Kennedy urged "a world-wide program to protect land and water, forest and wildlife to combat exhaustion and erosion, to stop contaminating water and air by industrial as well as nuclear pollution, and to provide for the steady renewal and expansion of the natural bases of life."

The President's top science adviser, Jerome B. Wiesner, told Congress: "We must make our continued investment in the technology of national security hold more relevance for those areas of our economy that do not receive the same measure of our resources."

With this shifting of government emphasis away from the military and national defense aspects of scientific research, there is every reason to believe that in the next few years less emphasis will be placed on such projects as the Moon shot and more on seeking cures for some of mankind's most persistent ills.

What Causes Compulsive Urge To Overeat?

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

Treatment of obesity is not very successful, even though the remedy is known. Is it the fault of the physician or his patient?

The medical profession is willing to take the blame if for no other reason than its inability to understand why fatties eat so much.

The most difficult obese persons to treat are those with compulsive eating habits. They have many psychological traits that give them a persisting and increasing urge to gorge. This neurotic tendency is established during childhood and adolescence. Many were mother's pet—a type of clinging, dependent individual.

Some will admit having feelings of restlessness that food satisfies. These men and women are likely to go on eating binges regardless of the time of day or night. Others have strong feelings of hunger or appetite all the time, and stuff themselves whenever they have the opportunity. They have a permanent eating drive.

Compulsive eating, for them, is an escape mechanism. They are happy when nibbling and gorging and unhappy when dieting. Let well enough alone is good advice, provided they know why they behave as they do. In many instances psychiatric care is required.

But not every heavyweight has a neurosis or compulsion to overeat. Some have a metabolic constitution that permits their body to function properly on a minimum number of calories. The rest of the food sticks to their ribs and they put on those extra pounds if they happen to love their vittles.

Poor dietary habits play a role among the millions who have a 5 to 10 pound surplus. This expansion begins after joining a club, getting married, or during pregnancy — situations known all too well by most of us. These are the men and women who diet once

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A professor at Columbia University was trying to finish an important essay, but was interrupted constantly by the prattling of his precocious seven-year-old son. Finally the professor brought himself a remedy. He tore a full-page colored map of the United States out of the Sunday newspaper, carefully cut apart each state and told his son, "Now let me see you assemble the states properly." He figured he was home-free for two hours at least, but the boy was back beaming in exactly five minutes with the states arranged in just the right order. "How did you do it so quickly?" marveled the professor. "It was easy," explained the boy. "There's a picture of Mickey Mantle on the back side of the map. I just put Mickey together."

Rex Stout was week-ending recently in a Southern town where two prominent Democrats were seeking the nomination for mayor.

The town was split about fifty-fifty and feelings were running high. "Who are you going to declare for?" Stout asked the editor. "I haven't decided yet," admitted the editor, "but when I do — I'm going to be mighty bitter!"

"Every family," maintains John Toland, "should have three children. That way, if one of them turns out to be a genius, the other two can support him."

Secretary Wirtz, George Meany Damage U. S. - Canadian Relations

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The amazing thing about astute George Meany of the AFL-CIO and Willard Wirtz, able and conscientious Secretary of Labor, is that they have supported an Alcatraz ex-convict against the Prime Minister of Canada.

This is the real reason for the serious snafu in Canadian-American relations only a short time after a pro-American Prime Minister, Lester Pearson, was elected, and after he and Kennedy had their important get-together at Hyannis Port.

Since then, Pearson has co-operated with Kennedy on the placing of nuclear warheads on Canadian missiles and stockpiling nuclear weapons in Canada—even though it has caused him all sorts of political headaches. But recently most of this good will has been undercut by the Great Lakes shipping dispute led by the Alcatraz ex-convict.

The inside story of what happened goes back to when Tal Banks got out of Alcatraz and was sent up to Canada by the AF of L to head the Seafarers International Union, an affiliate of the AFL-CIO which Meany wanted to purge of Communist membership.

Banks is not only anti-Communist but, according to the official Canadian report of Justice T. G. Norris, he is also: "capable, decisive, egocentric, intolerant, and ruthless."

"He is of the stuff of the Capones and the Hoffas, of whom the dictators throughout history from the earliest times to the totalitarians Hitler and Stalin are prototypes. He is a bully, cruel, dishonest, greedy, power-hungry, contemptuous of the law. In his mouth the use of the word 'democracy' is sheer blasphemy."

So reads the official report of the Canadian government.

Meany Stirs Canadians

Banks was so "power-hungry" in battling other Canadian unions that the Seafarers was kicked out of the Canadian Labor Congress—the Canadian equivalent of the AFL-CIO. He then began a war against other Canadian unions to force them off Canadian ships.

Paul Hall, head of the American Seafarers, retaliated by tying up Canadian ships in American Great Lakes ports, and George Meany supported him.

After approximately one year of harassment, the Canadian government issued its Norris report, quoted above, and proposed putting Bank's SIU under a three-man trusteeship.

This brought howls of anguish from the American Seafarers and, believe it or not, a certain amount of support from Secretary Wirtz. On October 10, one day before the Canadian Parliament was to vote on the trusteeship, Wirtz was persuaded by George Meany to issue a statement supporting the AFL-CIO in its dispute with the Canadian Labor Congress. Wirtz was careful not to criticize the Canadian government. Even so, an official statement by the U. S. Secretary of Labor was hailed in Canada as interference in a purely domestic Canadian problem.

Later in the day, Meany issued a much stronger statement.

This made Canadian members of Parliament see red. Next day, October 11, they voted overwhelmingly, 183 to 4, to slap the United States by supporting the trusteeship.

JFK Pacifics

Even Prime Minister Pearson, elected as a pro-American, expressed his concern "for the failure of Wirtz and Meany to realize that this is essentially a Canadian dispute."

On October 12, the Prime Minister telephoned President Kennedy and secured from him the pacifying statement that "The U. S. government has not and would not express any opinion on legislation pending in Parliament."

But it was then too late.

On October 29, Pearson made a speech before the National Federation of Liberal Women, urging that "no Canadian use this difficult situation to stir up anti-American prejudice."

Nevertheless, Canadians being sensitive, anti-American prejudice has been stirred up. Last week, the Pearson government faced a test vote over the policy of arming Canadian forces with U. S. nuclear weapons — all because of U. S. support for an Alcatraz ex-convict officially branded "a bully, cruel, dishonest, greedy, power-hungry, contemptuous of the law" . . . who used "the appearance of democracy in the union as a mere facade," union money for "bribery," and who had "one purpose only — to maintain his hold on the seamen and increase his own power."

Note 1 — If someone around the Labor Department or the White House had reminded George Meany, a sincere patriot, of Prime Minister Pearson's courageous stand for nuclear weapons, Meany's position might have been different.

Note 2 — The Canadian-U. S. hassle over shipping illustrates the importance of having Canadian non-voting delegates in Congress who can explain these measures to Washington. Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., has given verbal blessing to this idea but has been too busy perambulating around the country on speaking engagements to follow it up. Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, has introduced a resolution in the House for such reciprocal non-voting delegates in Ottawa and Washington.

Merry-Go-Round

Roger Blough, the U. S. Steel mogul, told a press conference that big steel could not use its influence to ease racial tensions in Birmingham. "Any attempt to have its ideas of what is right for a community enforced upon a community by some sort of economic means is repugnant to me personally," said Blough. . . . In 1952, when Tom Dewey appealed to U. S. Steel to throw its influence against the late Sen. Bob Taft in the Republican National Convention, it was not repugnant. U. S. Steel used its influence with Gov. John Fine, Overnight, Pennsylvania delegates switched from Taft to Eisenhower.

A Nest Of Birds

By John Crosby

The Kenco Coffee Shop — everyone calls it by its old name — the Kenya Coffee Bar — is, from the street, the most innocuous of shops. The front of the store is adorned by copper containers with different kinds of coffee you buy by the pound. The back of the place, where they sell the stuff by the cup, is adorned by girls — some of the prettiest in London.

Actually the Kenya changes personality twice a day as regularly as the tides. At lunch time, it's full of housewives in hats, some with children, eating an inexpensive lunch. At teatime the swingers come in. The Chelsea set, which spawned Christine Keeler and friends, take over the tiny premises and its ten tables. For roughly one hour and a half, from 4:30 to 6 — to the private despair of the management — the joint swings.

Teenage girls — debutantes, schoolgirls, models, actresses, a few prostitutes — are all crammed together with bearded poets, operators, writers, sometime film producers, racketeers, folk singers, and a whole roster of guys whose activities defy categorization. Or, to put it another way, they don't do anything. Laya-bouts is the word they use here.

Peter Rachman, London's malodorous real estate operator, who made millions of pounds out of the scurviest of real estate deals, used to come to the Kenya every day around four, leaving his Rolls-Royce parked outside. His girl friend, Mandy Rice-Davies, would emerge from the Rolls in three-foot hats. During the height of the Profumo scandal she could be heard calling out with unabashed delight, "Did you see my picture in the Express. Wasn't it good of me?"

The two men who are now being hunted all over the world for questioning in connection with the great train robbery and whose faces decorate every post office in England used to come to the Kenya every afternoon. I don't think they planned the great train robbery there. It's no place to plan a train robbery.

At teatime every seat is occupied and there is a line of people searching and waiting for a vacant seat. When a chair is vacant, one sits down whether one knows the rest of the people at the table or not, and in five minutes you do know them. That's what the Kenya is for. Boys meet girls. Girls meet boys. Houses are bought and sold. Apartments are swapped. Girls are swapped. Jobs are got.

Most of the men are just looking for birds (girls). Everyone is looking for a fast buck. One character who used to come in every day is now in prison for selling a non-existent fishing fleet to a Yorkshire farmer for 50,000 pounds. A Polish prince with marvelous manners who got out on bail after a brush with the police has disappeared.

Rachman is dead. Mandy Rice-Davies is not seen much any more. Many of the hip crowd will tell you that the place to go now is Heneky's Pub on the Portobello Road, and the Kenya is on the way out.

But you'd never think so, if you dropped in any afternoon at five, especially on Saturday when the place is crammed with birds in the most spectacular feathers. I saw one the other day, a vivacious blonde, in a green hat with a green feather, a green wool suit, and green stockings. The longest fake eyelashes in London were on some of the surrounding birds. Nearby were some pretty fresh-faced teenage school girls.

Most of them look for parties. The word gets around that there are two parties that night — with the addresses.

"But who's giving them?" I ask innocently.

"Who knows? Just look for the noise. Walk in and say you know Norman."

That's how the parties operate. The word goes around someone's having one. Lots of people show up. All you need is a record player and an address. They'll bring their own booze — wine usually. Actually, this crowd isn't much interested in liquor. The girls want boys: the boys want girls. Everyone wants to dance.

At six p.m. the Kenya changes character again. The management, who wishes the whole swinging crowd would go swing somewhere else, has slapped on a three-shilling six-pence minimum charge at six, and, while this isn't much (50 cents roughly), it dislodges many of the Chelsea set who go off to each others' apartments with the girls they've just met. At dinner time, the Chelsea set has disappeared altogether and the Kenya Coffee Shop reverts to the respectable matrons in hats quietly having a meal.

Keyser Kiwanis Charter Night Program Set

Rev. Robert Ruth Is Guest Speaker

KEYSER — Rev. Robert Ruth, assistant pastor of Church of the Assumption, will be principal speaker when the Keyser Kiwanis Club marks its thirteenth anniversary Wednesday with a "Charter Night" dinner at 6:30 p. m. in Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Rev. Ruth, a native of Hampton, Va., where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Ruth, reside, is a 1952 graduate of Hampton High School. He later attended St. Francis College in Loretta, Pa., graduating from there in 1956.

Following studies in psychology at Catholic University of America in 1959, he returned to St. Francis where he was ordained from the seminary in 1960. Prior to coming to Keyser, Rev. Ruth was stationed at St. Thomas More Church, Arlington, and St. Patrick's, Richmond. He is presently serving as moderator for the Catholic Youth Organization in the parish.

Kiwanians and their wives from neighboring clubs have been invited and delegations from Petersburg, Charles Town, Martinsburg, Berkeley Springs, Romney and Cumberland. James Handlan, program chairman, requests that all reservations be in to Edwin Jordan by tomorrow night.

The event will mark the club's traditional "Ladies Night" program and several new members are expected to be inducted during the meeting.

Auxiliary Gives $500 To Luke Fire Company

LUKE — The Volunteer Fire Company of Luke held their annual banquet in the Community Center building with Harris LeFevre, manager of public relations at the Luke Plant of the W. Va. Pulp and Paper Company, acting as master of ceremonies.

Mrs. Delores Smith, vice president of the Ladies Auxiliary, presented a check of $500 to the fire company on behalf of the auxiliary. Joseph Rodriguez, president of the company, accepted.

Among those attending were William Devens, liaison officer of the fire company and the Luke mill; Luther Metz, Barton, president of the Allegany and Garrett County Volunteer Firemen's Association and Mrs. Metz; David Kirk, president of the Maryland State Firemen's Association and Mrs. Kirk, Cumberland; Felix Foote, Lonaconing, chaplain of the Allegany and Garrett Firemen's Association; Charles Patterson, chief of the Bloomingtown fire company; William Smith Jr., and Luther Crites Sr., members of the town council.

Felix Foote gave the invocation and pronounced the benediction. The Ladies Auxiliary members served the dinner which was attended by sixty-seven.

Mt. Savage Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Green and children, Diane, Anita and Renee, Hyattsville, returned after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Harry Green and Mrs. Frances Gallagher.

Miss Alice Mulligan returned home after spending several weeks touring Europe. Mrs. Bertha Farrell returned from Youngstown, Ohio where she attended the funeral of Summers Cunningham.

Robert Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Martin Sr., returned home from Children's Hospital, Baltimore, where he was a surgical patient the past two months.

Mrs. Dallas Hughes and son, Blake, Gary, Ind., returned home after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Paul Martin Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Truly.

Mothers Club Meets Wednesday

FROSTBURG — Hill Street Kindergarten Mothers Club will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Joseph Lyons, Clarysville. Mrs. Lou Davis will preside.

Mrs. Gladys Eaton, superintendent of the Allegany County School cafeterias, will be guest speaker. All mothers are urged to attend.

Funeral Director Home From Dallas

PIEDMONT — Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fredlock returned from Dallas, Texas, where he attended the annual convention of National Funeral Directors Examining Board.

Mr. Fredlock is the secretary of the West Virginia State Examining Board.

TV Group To Meet

FROSTBURG — Frostburg Community TV Association will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in City Hall with George Wehler presiding.

Frostburg Water Supply Dwindles

Although Frostburg has issued no directives forbidding use of water the situation at the city's Piney Run dam will begin reaching the critical stage shortly unless rain arrives. Shown on the photograph is the face of the dam with water approximately five feet below the spillway. The dam does not exceed a depth of 20 feet at this point. However nearly three-fourths of the reservoir, usually covered with water, is empty showing only mud flats. This level of the dam has been maintained for several weeks but is expected to drop unless rain is received. This is typical of the water shortage throughout the area.

Youth Is Injured As Car Leaves Road

ROMNEY, W. Va. — A Springfield youth is reported in "fair" condition in Hampshire Memorial Hospital, with injuries suffered in a one-car accident Sunday.

Clarence Edward Parsons, 19, reportedly fell asleep while traveling east on U. S. Route 50, about a half-mile east of Romney.

The vehicle ran off the road, climbed a steep embankment, rolled back down onto the road and into a ditch. Parsons was pinned in the wreckage about a half-hour before he could be freed.

Attaches state he suffered a broken left leg, fractured right leg, multiple lacerations of the face and complained of pain in the chest.

Revival Under Way

BARTON — Revival services are being held in the Moscow Nazarene Church this week at 7:30 p. m. by Rev. David Dayoff, Bowman's Addition. Rev. Samuel Shaeffer is pastor.

Special music is being conducted every night and the public is invited.

SCHLOSSER SERVICE

A service for Mrs. Mary Ruth Schlosser, 62, of Cresaptown, who was killed Sunday in a two-car accident near Tyrone, Pa., will be conducted Thursday at 2 p. m. at Calvary Baptist Church, Cresaptown. Rev. Harold A. Allen, pastor, will officiate and interment will be in Madley (Pa.) Cemetery.

Her husband, Charles Edward Schlosser, 67, was in critical condition at Tyrone, Pa. hospital last night.

Mrs. Schlosser was a daughter of the late William C. and Loretta (Stouffer) Corley.

Besides her husband, she is survived by two sons, Ralph Allen Schlosser, Cresaptown, and C. Ray Schlosser, Rawlings; two daughters, Mrs. Richard Haines, and Miss Ruth Ann Schlosser, both of Baltimore; a half-brother, Clyde Edward Corley, Mineral Point, Pa.; a brother, Paul Corley, Cresaptown, and 10 grandchildren.

She was a member of the Calvary Baptist Church of Cresaptown and the Maranatha Bible Class of the church.

The body is at the George F. Laube Home. It will be taken to the church at noon Thursday.

Business Courses At FSC Urged By Dr. E. R. Schatz

FROSTBURG — Dr. Edward R. Schatz, chairman of the Economics Department at Frostburg State College, has indicated that he feels it would be beneficial to the Campus to introduce business administration and business education courses in the curriculum.

Prior to taking his position at FSC, Dr. Schatz was a member of the faculty of a school in North Carolina. After the introduction of business courses to the school, the student body doubled within three years. Many of the students in business administration had jobs awaiting them upon graduation.

"If business courses are added, Dr. Schatz said, enrollment of Frostburg State would increase by over 1,000 in the next three years."

"Business courses would also be beneficial to our college due to the fact that there is no other college in the area which offers business courses. There is a business school in Cumberland which is so overcrowded at the present time that many students are refused admittance."

"Business education and business administrative courses would prepare students for two vocations. Upon graduation it would be possible for them either to teach business in high school or to become a business manager. Business education would be tuition free and require only a few additional education courses."

"Business courses to be offered would include secretarial courses, such as shorthand and typing, and also management and merchandizing courses."

"Including business courses on Frostburg's roster would enable students to take typing and shorthand. These courses would prove helpful in career activities. Many students have noted the decided disadvantage in not having experience in these areas."

During the recent homecoming weekend, a poll was taken among alumni and parents present. Out of 467 persons interviewed, 86.1 per cent was in favor of the addition of business courses and 13.9 per cent were against the proposal.

At a later date, a poll will be taken in an attempt to discover if the student body favors the proposal.

Church Urges Street Opening At Lonaconing

Council Receives Routine Reports

LONACONING — At a meeting of the Mayor and Town Council of Lonaconing, last night, it was decided to confer with members of the Board of County Commissioners on a street problem.

Mayor Dewey Burns said that a letter from the Lonaconing First Methodist Church, requested that the town open Church Street extended at the upper end, so it will be a through street to the county road, also known as Douglas Avenue. Church Street dead-ends, and the church people want it made a through street. The distance is about one-half mile, town councilmen noted, and assistance is to be sought from the county on the project.

A similar letter was sent to the County Commissioners and representatives of the two governing bodies are to meet at the site and make a determination, Mayor Burns said.

Council also took action last night to name a street on the west side of Lonaconing. Robert Hadley appeared before council and said he has recently constructed a house there and there is also one other property on the street. Council passed a resolution naming the new street Sunnyside Drive.

The street department reported that work on clearing ditches along Railroad Street is about complete. Castle Hill extended has been blacktopped and repairs are being made to a wall along Douglas Avenue.

The police department reported no arrests during October, however 39 parking tickets were affixed and the cruiser traveled 237.8 miles.

Donald McGill was granted a sewer tap for a lot on East Main Street.

Allegany High Cagers Enter Altoona Tournament December 27-28

Pennsylvania's Class A Champs In 4-Team Event

Philadelphia Team, Charleroi, Altoona Are Others Entered

Allegany High School's basketball team will participate in an independent tournament for the first time in the 37-year history of the Campbello school when the Campers play in the Jaffa Invitational Tournament at Altoona, Pa. Friday and Saturday, December 27 and 28, according to Coach Chester G. Payne.

Two of the four teams entered in the Jaffa event won state championships last season. Plymouth-Whitmarsh High School, of Philadelphia, copped the Pennsylvania Class A title by defeating Norwin in the finals, 74-54, while Allegany captured the Maryland Class A crown by beating Fairmont Heights and Springbrook at College Park. Altoona High School is the host team and the other entry is Charleroi (Pa.) High School.

Semi-finals are set for Dec. 27 with the finals and consolation games billed for Saturday night at Jaffa Mosque.

Rebels Off Schedule

Two open dates were left on the Allegany schedule this year when South Hagerstown's Rebels withdrew to fulfill their obligations in the Tri-State League.

In Maryland competition this year Allegany will compete as a Class AA school. Fort Hill, Beall and Valley will vie for Class A honors. Mt. Savage and Bruce are in Class B and Oldtown and Flintstone Class C.

In addition to home-and-home games with Mt. Savage, Beall, Valley, Bruce and Fort Hill in the W.M.I. League, the Campers also will play Martinsburg, Bishop Guilfoyle of Altoona and LaSalle twice and Keyser, Piedmont and the Alumni once.

Two Regulars Return

Coach Payne will build his 1963-64 team around the high-scoring Steve Vandenberg and Larry Miller, only regular holdovers of last year's championship team. Jimmy Bell, Doug Shook, Larry Snyder and Mickey Robinson were graduated in June.

Payne is at the Campers' helm for the seventh consecutive year. Last season's team won 20 games and lost four. Over six seasons his teams have won 86 and lost 48.

Initial drills at Allegany are scheduled for November 15. Cage candidates on the football squad will report to Payne after the Thanksgiving day game.

The 1963-64 schedule:
Dec. 11-Bishop Guilfoyle, Altoona, home.
Dec. 12-Martinsburg, away.
Dec. 13-Piedmont, away.
Dec. 14-Keyser, home.
Dec. 15-Jaffa Invitational Tournament at Altoona. Other teams entered are Plymouth-Whitmarsh, of Philadelphia, Charleroi and Altoona.
Dec. 16-Alumni, home.
Jan. 3-Mt. Savage, home.
Jan. 7-Beall, away.
Jan. 10-Valley, home.
Jan. 14-Bruce, home.
Jan. 17-Fort Hill, away.
Jan. 24-LaSalle, away.
Jan. 28-Martinsburg, home.
Jan. 31-Mt. Savage, away.
Feb. 4-Beall, home.
Feb. 7-Valley, away.
Feb. 11-Bruce, away.
Feb. 14-Fort Hill, home.
Feb. 18-Bishop Guilfoyle, Altoona, away.

Mantle Is Named In $200,000 Suit

DALLAS (UPI)—A trustee of the bankrupt Mickey Mantle Enterprises, Inc. sued Mantle Monday for $200,000.

The suit charged that Mantle diverted money earned from activities outside his baseball career to his own use when the money should have gone to Mickey Mantle Enterprises.

Mantle was not available for comment.

Philip I. Palmer Jr., trustee for the corporation, declared bankrupt in August, 1962, filed the suit.

The suit asked that Mantle be ordered to account for all the money he received for non-baseball activity, including endorsement of products, since July, 1960.

High School Swim Meet Set Nov. 23

YMCA Will Sponsor Invitational Event

On the heels of the past grade school swim meet, the local "Y" is now preparing for the 2nd Annual High School Invitational Swim Meet which will be held on Saturday, November 23rd at noon. It is expected that the local high schools of Fort Hill, Allegany, and LaSalle and Ursuline will have good representative teams at this meet. As of yet, no other high school in the area has indicated that they will send a team.

Open practice sessions begin next week to all interested persons. Participants do not have to be a member of the "Y" to attend the practice sessions under the direction of Eugene Kolbosky, swim coach. Practice sessions will be every Monday and Thursday at 5:45 p. m. up until the meet. Members of the YMCA swimming team will assist the program in their respective schools in distributing entry blanks and contacting candidates for their respective teams.

Boys and girls events will be scored separately but will be cumulative toward the championship trophy of which the winner maintains for a year, until it is finally retired. In the boys division there will be nine events and diving competition; while, in the girls area there will be only five events and diving. All competitors must represent their own school and have an entry blank submitted before the final event. Individual awards at the meet will be ribbons decided on the fastest times registered.

This program is open to all high schools in the area, so if there is anyone from the schools not mentioned that would like to enter a team, please contact Lynn Patchin, Ph. Dr. of the local "Y" at PA 4-5445.

Jerold Hoffberger, Zanyvl Kreiger Seek Control Of Orioles

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI)—Control of the Baltimore Orioles—whose season attendance dropped to record lows in 1962 and 1963—may be taken over by a new combination of stockholders, the Baltimore News Post reported Monday.

The News Post reported that President Jerold C. Hoffberger and Zanyvl Kreiger, the treasurer of the ball club, will combine their stock interests to gain control of the team.

The Orioles are now controlled by Kreiger and investment banker Joseph A. W. Iglehart. Any new combination probably would lead to Iglehart's resignation as chairman of the team's board of directors, the paper said.

However, Kreiger says the ownership still is the same. "Additional stock was purchased but it has not affected the substantial control of the ball club," he said. "As far as I know, Iglehart will stay on. I haven't received any information that there is going to be a change."

The News Post said Hoffberger controlled about 25 per cent of the team's stock at the start of the season with Kreiger having slightly less. It said to achieve the necessary 51 per cent control, Hoffberger has been buying stock and enlisting the aid of other stockholders.

Mt. Savage Seeks Victory To Tie Soccer League Race

Indians Will Host Aggies; Bruce Ends Season With Beall

The Western Maryland Inter-scholastic Soccer League winds up its 37th schedule today and if Mt. Savage can defeat Flintstone the Indians will tie Valley's Black Knights for first place.

Then the title will hinge on the outcome of the playoff game between Mt. Savage and Valley to determine Allegany county's representative in the district championship game with the victor in the Washington and Frederick county contest.

Frederick Finale Today
Today, Emmitsburg plays Walkersville at Middletown for the Frederick county championship and the victor meets Williamsport, Washington county champion, Friday at Middletown.

If Washington county's team goes to the finals it will tackle the Allegany county winner Tuesday at Hancock. If Frederick county's team cops Friday's contest it will oppose the Allegany county champion Tuesday at South Hagerstown High School field.

Mt. Savage plays host to Flintstone today and Coach John Thomas' booters will be seeking a sweep of the series, having won the opener, 3-0.

Valley leads the race at the present time with a 6-2 record and 12 points. Mt. Savage occupies the runner-up berth with 4-1-2 and ten points. A team gets two points for a win, one for a tie and nothing for a loss. Valley has concluded its regular season.

Keyser JVs Finish With Mark Of 9-0

Win Over Beall In Finale, 21-6

Keyser High School's Jayvees finished the season yesterday with a perfect record of nine victories and no defeats by polishing off Beall's junior varsity, 21-6, at Clark Field in Keyser.

Coach Jim Thompson Little Tornado whipped the Fort Hill Jayvees twice while fashioning its unbeaten mark.

The winners ran up a 21-0 advantage before Beall scored its lone tally in the final period. Jody McDonald opened the scoring for Keyser, racing 13 yards for a touchdown in the first quarter. A 39-yard pass play from Mike Furey to Dave Smith made it 14-0 at halftime, and Bill Brotemarkle plunged over from inches away to cap a 58-yard drive and wind up Keyser's scoring in the third frame.

Steve Stanislawczyk kicked Keyser's first two extra points and passed to Fred Schadler for the third.

A three-yard thrust by Harry Smith accounted for the Frostburg's six-pointer.

The summary:

Keyser Jayvees 7 7 7 6-21
Beall Jayvees 0 0 0 6-6

Touchdowns: Keyser—Jody McDonald (13-yard run); Dave Smith (39-yard pass from Mike Furey); Bill Brotemarkle (1-yard plunge). Beall—Harry Smith (3-yard run).

Points after Touchdowns: Keyser—Steve Stanislawczyk 2 (kicks); Fred Schadler (pass from Stanislawczyk).

Navy Holds Lead In Lambert Poll

NEW YORK (AP)—Navy remained a unanimous choice as the best college football team in the East Monday but Pittsburgh and Army moved up as the leading challengers in the Lambert Trophy poll.

Navy, 35-14 winner over Notre Dame, received all eight first place votes from the special panel of coaches, sports writers and broadcasters.

Pitt replaced Syracuse, a team it beat 35-27, for second place and Army moved up to third after stopping Air Force 14-10. After the top three came Syracuse, No. 4; unbeaten-untied Princeton, No. 5; Penn State, No. 6; Boston College, No. 7; Massachusetts, No. 8; Harvard, No. 9, and Yale, No. 10.

Flintstone, which scored its first win in seven starts last Friday by whipping Bruce, 2-0, could present Valley with the title by beating or tying Mt. Savage today.

"Moose" Arnone and John Fatkin will officiate.

Beall Visits Bruce
Beall and Bruce windup their season at Westernport today. Beall, 1962 champion, is 4-2-1 and the Bulldogs have won one, lost five and played one tie. Beall took Bruce, 3-0, in their first meeting.

Clifton Van Roby and Bob Nelson will be the officials at Westernport.

U.S. Sweeps Net Series With India

McKinley Is Victor In Five-Set Match

By HENRY BRADSHAW
BOMBAY, India (AP)—Chuck McKinley settled a two-year-old score and completed a 5-0 sweep for the United States over India Monday in the Interzone Davis Cup tennis finals.

In the last match of the series, clinched by the Americans Sunday, the 22-year-old Wimbledon champion from St. Ann, Mo., avenged a 1961 loss to India's Ramanathan Krishnan with a 10-8, 6-8, 6-2, 2-6, 6-0 victory.

In an earlier final singles match, reduced to a formality, Martin Riessen of Evanston, Ill. subbing for Dennis Ralston, defeated Premjit Lall 6-3, 2-6, 6-0. Ralston turned up with a blister on his racket hand.

The Americans now move on to Australia for the Challenge Round at Adelaide Dec. 26-28.

Captain Confident

"We can beat the Aussies," Bob Kelleher, non-playing U. S. captain, predicted confidently.

Kelleher said Ralston and Riessen would fly to Australia directly. McKinley will play an exhibition Tuesday in Krishnan's home town of Madras, a southern seaport. The other two members of the squad—Frank Froehling of Coral Gables, Fla. and Eugene Scott of St. James, N.Y.—will play exhibitions Tuesday in Calcutta, then leave for Australia.

Although the match could not alter the result, the McKinley-Krishnan battle on the Cricket Club of India clay court attracted considerable interest. It was a return engagement of the Davis Cup meeting in New Delhi in 1961 when Krishnan beat the American ace 6-3, 4-6, 1-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Both players went at each other as if they were battling for the Wimbledon crown.

McKinley had to ward off four set points in the 12th game of the opening set but finally pulled out the set with a slambang attack that broke Krishnan's service in the 17th game.

The U. S. ace sent on the defensive in the second set and dropped it when he hit three volleys into the net and double-faulted to lose his service in the 14th game.

Crowd Is Noisy

The crowd became noisy from excitement when the next two sets were divided, and McKinley once stopped and announced to the gallery:

"Shut up or I'll stop the match."

The crowd quieted, McKinley, lashing out on every shot, swept through the final set without loss of a game.

Riessen, 20-year-old student at Northwestern University, was too much for Lall, who seemed to be affected by the 95-degree heat. After the second set, the Indian put up practically no resistance.

State May Ban Minors If Sold Mutuel Tickets

Would Close Gates To Persons Under 21

BALTIMORE (AP)—Minors may be barred from Maryland race tracks if the tracks sell pari-mutuel tickets to bettors under 21 years old, the state attorney general's office said Monday.

The opinion also said persons selling "hot" tickets on the twin double bet system may be fined up to $1,000 and sentenced to up to two-year prison terms upon conviction.

The opinions were requested last month by James A. Callahan, secretary of the Maryland Racing Commission, after complaints were made about minors betting at Timonium.

The commission "has set down a policy against track bets by people under 21 years of age," the opinion said, but the commission had no means of enforcing the policy.

Monday's legal stand would permit the commission to order any track found to be selling pari-mutuel tickets to minors to close its gates to persons under 21.

Under the twin double bet system, which the opinion calls "a glorified four-horse parlay," a bettor picks a winning horse in the fourth and fifth races. If he wins these two races, he exchanges his tickets for bets on the next two races. The winning ticket for the fourth and fifth races is known in racing circles as a "hot" ticket.

Holders of a hot ticket have been known to auction it to the highest bidder. Such auctions, the attorney general said, violates the state's lottery laws.

Machen, On Comeback Trail, Fights Tonight

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Heavyweight boxer Eddie Machen, hoping for his third straight comeback victory, meets Sacramento's Bill McMurray Tuesday night at the Sacramento Memorial Auditorium.

Machen is aiming for an eventual fight with champion Sonny Liston. He once went the distance with Liston in a 12-round fight, losing the decision. Since his recovery from a mental illness, Eddie has scored decisions against Ollie Wilson and Alonzo Johnson. Both bouts were in Santa Monica. He is ranked No. 6 among the heavyweights by the World Boxing Association. Before his illness he was top contender.

He says he's been fighting better and is more aggressive than before his 14-month-layoff.

Texas Still Number One As Four Other Teams Fatten Vote Harvest

First Seven Spots In AP Grid Ratings Remain Unchanged

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Unbeaten, untied Texas held firmly to its position as the nation's No. 1 college football team Tuesday, but new strength gathered in The Associated Press weekly poll for Illinois, Mississippi, Navy and Auburn.

Also, Michigan State moved into the select Top Ten, taking over the No. 9 spot after a 30-13 victory over Wisconsin. The latter rated eighth, dropped from the list in the only radical change of the week.

Texas, with a 7-0 record, gained 45 of the 53 votes of a special panel of sports writers and broadcasters to get the top spot for the fourth week in a row. These were four less votes than received in the preceding balloting and the leaders' point total—based on .10 for a first place vote, .9 for second, etc.—also fell below the previous mark. The Longhorns slid past Southern Methodist last week 17-12.

Second-place Illinois, 41-21 conqueror of Purdue, increased its first place vote from one to four and added 67 points to its total, now standing at 425.

The next three teams—Mississippi, Navy and Auburn—also picked up a fatter vote harvest after impressive victories. Mississippi clobbered Louisiana State 37-3, Navy thrashed Notre Dame 35-14 and Auburn, like Texas, unbeaten and untied, won over Florida 19-0.

These places remained unchanged from a week ago as did No. 6 Oklahoma, which routed Colorado 35-0, and No. 7 Alabama, squeaking winner over Mississippi State 20-19.

Pittsburgh, which turned back Syracuse 35-27 in a freak snow and thunderstorm, jumped from

Promoter Appears Before Grand Jury

BALTIMORE (AP)—Benjamin Magliano, the night club operator and boxing promoter also known as Benny Trotta, appeared briefly Monday before the special grand jury probing the death of heavyweight Ernie Knox.

Trotta was identified as resident agent of Civic Sports, Inc., which promoted the Oct. 14 bout in which Knox was knocked out in the ninth round by Wayne Bethea. He died Oct. 16 of a brain injury.

10 to eighth. Ohio State dropped a notch—from ninth to 10th—although winner over Iowa 7-3.

Texas has a formidable test Saturday against Baylor; Illinois plays Michigan; Mississippi has a breather with Tampa, Navy tackles Maryland and Auburn has a date with Mississippi State.

Other assignments for Top Ten teams include: Oklahoma vs. Iowa State; Pitt vs. Notre Dame; Michigan State vs. Purdue and Ohio State vs. Penn State. Alabama is idle.

The top team teams with first place votes in parentheses, season records and points on a 10-point scale:

 Although the bidding in today's hand was a shade on the defensive side, the final result of six spades was not entirely reasonable. Had the declarer's hearts been divided two-to-two, as is the normal case, the declarer would have enjoyed 12 tricks. While the break in the suit presented an unexpected complication, it was balanced by a favorable distribution which existed in the other suits, but unfortunately the declarer failed to capitalize on the available opportunity and he went down one.
 The north's three club responses are conventional and asks the declarer to show a club suit. The major if he has one was prepared to support the hearts or spades. With an opening bidder has no majors, he shows the high ranking suit first. When South has three spades, North elects to make a slam try by bidding the game in spades.
Fast Four
Market Prices
 NEW YORK (UPI) — Stock prices sharply during the week Monday and failed to recover by the final bell. Heavy selling in motor stocks prompted the general Motors, which closed its year-end dividend for the close, finished off with a price that directors might have sold the company's stock. The General Motors dividend brought a disbursement for the year of $4.00 — the highest ever.
Mutual Funds
 NEW YORK (UPI) — American Mutual Funds Inc. reported that the fund industry had a record year in 1973. The fund industry had a record year in 1973. The fund industry had a record year in 1973.

in support of the suit. Counting three for the singleton. South had 22 points in high cards plus one for a doubleton. These points were of a top drawer quality, including nearly every side control, he chose to accept partner's invitation and contracted for a small slam.

West led the king of diamonds. South played the ace and proceeded to draw trump in two rounds ending up in dummy. He then led a heart and, when East played the nine, declarer permitted him to hold the trick. One heart had to be lost in any case, and South decided to give the opponents their due at once. A heart was returned but, when West showed out, declarer discovered that he must lose another trick in the suit.

Since he lacked the intermediate cards in hearts, declarer had nothing to gain by giving up a trick early. In fact, by so doing, he surrendered the one legitimate opportunity that was available to him. He might just as well have cashed the ace and king after drawing the trumps, in order to learn how the hearts were divided. When West shows out on the second round, South's only chance is to execute an end play on the opponent who is out of hearts.

Declarer first cashes the top clubs and then ruffs a diamond in dummy. He trumps North's last club and then leads the ten of diamonds. West covers with the jack and South permits him to win the trick as dummy discards a heart. Now, whether West returns a diamond or a club, declarer can dispose of North's last heart as he ruffs in his hand. The only trick that is lost is a diamond.

Break Sends Cards Tumbling

for one year in the company's history.

Chrysler declined 2 1/4, Ford and American Motors 1/4.

Dow-Jones industrial average which had been off 0.35 at p.m., closed down 4.51. Railroads were off 0.72 and utilities 0.1. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index dropped 0.38.

Trading totaled 5,440,000 shares compared with 5,240,000 on Friday. Of the total, 10,000 were tallied during the final 90 minutes.

Of the 1,318 issues traded, 67 declined and 375 advanced 33 to new 1963 lows and 31 new highs.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Soybeans, wheat and wheat futures rose 1/2 cent each on the Chicago Board of Trade, and oats futures firmed.

At the close, wheat was off 1/2 to 3/4 cent, wheat futures 1/2 cent, oats up 1/2 to 3/4 cent, soybeans up 1/2 to 3/4 cent.

Wheat weakened on profit taking after a selling based on word that southwesterly winds off the coast of California would increase. New crop estimates were increased. New crop wheat fell more than 2 cents. Canada's estimate tomorrow to announce a 10-term wheat sale agreement with Poland. The Santa Fe reported good seedling winter wheat but a lack of moisture in the southern great plains.

Short covering by a buying of most soybean and corn contracts.

Wheat, corn and soybean contracts prompted by smaller arrival at export markets due to the box car shortage.

Chicago over the weekend and today cleared 560 cars of corn, against 622 weeks ago and 668 a year ago.

Wheat commission house buying below soybean more than 2 cents. Selling knocked prices more than 2 cents below the previous close. China reported to have sold 9.5 million bushels of soybeans to Japan.

Oats firmed with corn on buying of commission and northeast houses.

Trustees To Meet On FSC Matter

Committee Hears Testimony On College Situation

The subcommittee of the Board of Trustees for Maryland State Colleges which was in Cumberland yesterday to investigate the recent situation at Frostburg State College said "it was impressed with the sincerity and dedicated interest of those who testified at the all-day hearings."

William L. Wilson, local attorney, who is chairman of the board of trustees and who appointed members of the subcommittee, said last night "the board of trustees of Maryland State Colleges will meet in executive session Saturday at 10 a. m. to consider the report of the special committee on its investigation of the situation at Frostburg State College."

Members of the subcommittee, Samuel Hopkins, chairman, a Baltimore banker; W. Carroll Beatty, Hyattsville, and Robert B. Hamill, Towson, began their hearings yesterday morning and concluded about 7:30 p. m. last night.

Hear Hardesty

Mr. Hopkins said the subcommittee listened to R. Bowen Hardesty, president of Frostburg College, college administrators and faculty members, students and other interested persons.

Yesterday's hearings were held to investigate charges by some faculty members and a majority of students that Mr. Hardesty's policies have fostered fear and dissension on the campus and that free speech and press were being threatened.

The committee chairman said those who appeared yesterday before the committee did not seem to have any "personal vendetta" against Mr. Hardesty and a substantial number who testified said Mr. Hardesty was a "terrific hard worker."

Mr. Hopkins said the subcommittee has a tremendous volume of material to go over as a result of the hearings and that the subcommittee would report to the full board of trustees as soon as possible.

Mr. Hopkins also stressed the fact that the present situation at the college has very little to do with the incident involving the four English teachers at the college last spring. He added "the sentiment of those interviewed yesterday was almost unanimous that the decision not to renew the four teachers' contracts was a wise one."

Handling Questioned

The subcommittee chairman did say, however, that several persons yesterday questioned the way in which the situation involving the four dismissed teachers was handled. Several testified they felt the teachers should have been treated as individuals rather than as a group.

The subcommittee said it felt yesterday's hearings would be sufficient to make a decision in the (Continued on Page 6)

Bloodmobile Lists Three Visits Here

370 Pints Needed During November

The Red Cross bloodmobile unit from Johnstown Regional Center will make three visits to Allegany County during November. Total quota for the visits is 370 pints.

Tomorrow the bloodmobile will be at Alvin C. Neat Post Home, Lonaconing, from noon until 6 p. m. The quota is 85 pints.

On Thursday the unit will be at Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, Works 7, from 11 a. m. until 5 p. m. The quota for this visit is 200 pints.

Monday, November 18, the unit will be at Frostburg State College with a goal of 85 pints listed.

Richard Heacock, of PPG personnel division, said the weekly safety meeting will be held at the plant today which will feature the bloodmobile visit.

Besides Mr. Heacock other members of a recruitment committee are Norman Curtis, William Cook, Carl Hartig, William Edwards, Earl Boore, Ray Jenkins and William Hersch.

Red Cross officials said that altogether the chapter placed first in blood production during the past year, it placed sixth in the first quarter of this fiscal year.

Quotas must be met in order to assure that county residents will be able to obtain blood at out-of-region hospitals, they pointed out.

Science Session Tomorrow

Science teachers in public high schools of Allegany and Garrett counties tomorrow night will hear a talk at Beall High School by Matthew Wargovich, research scientist in the limited war laboratory at Aberdeen Proving Grounds.

Albert Ringer, supervisor of high schools in Garrett County, said the meeting, one of a series of science sessions sponsored by the Maryland Academy of Science and State Department of Education, will begin at 7:30 p. m.

The guest speaker received his bachelor degree in biology and chemistry at St. Vincent's College, Latrobe, Pa. and did graduate work at the University of Maryland. He has written numerous papers.

Jack A. Petry, supervisor of high schools in Allegany County, co-chairman of the sessions, said the meetings are beneficial to the teachers who are getting an insight in new developments, becoming acquainted with scientific background and are being kept up to date in the latest research.

Mr. Wargovich will speak on the phenomena of meteorology, said Mr. Ringer.

City Asks Bids For Fence On Dam

The Mayor and Council is advertising for bids, to be opened November 12 at 10 a. m. for the erection of a chain link fence on top of Lake Gordon Dam.

The work will include all labor and materials for installing 235 feet of fence with three swing gates and one double swing gate. Plans and specifications may be secured from the City Engineering office, according to Water Commissioner G. Ray Light.

Legion Meeting Today

Knobley Mountain Post 136, American Legion, Ridgeley, will hold a regular membership meeting today at 8 p. m. at the post home.

Bowling Green Firemen To End Fund Drive

$1,834 Donated For Equipment

The Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Company will close its fund drive within a few weeks, according to William O'Neal and Clayton Gillum, co-chairmen.

They reported that $1,834.75 has been collected and that anyone who was missed may call Mr. O'Neal at 729-2185; Mr. Gillum, 729-3256, or the department president, George Mahaney, 729-2458, to arrange for the pickup of coin cards.

Contributions may be mailed to the department, addressed to the Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Company, McMullen Highway, Cumberland.

Mr. Mahaney said the total collections will be announced when the drive ends.

The department uses funds collected in the drives to purchase new equipment and to keep existing equipment in good working order. Radio equipment was changed at considerable cost recently to a narrow band to meet FCC regulations.

The department serves the area from the Celanese gate to the Cumberland limits at Dingle Hill.

Man Injured In Collision At LaVale

An 18-year-old Frostburg area man was hospitalized yesterday morning with injuries sustained in a two-car collision on U. S. Route 40 in LaVale.

Frederick A. Keiling, Frostburg RD 1, was reported in "satisfactory" condition last night at Sacred Heart Hospital, according to attaches, who said he sustained a possible leg injury, lacerations of his face and head.

Tfc. D. J. Kerr of the Maryland state police said Keiling's foreign make stationwagon was traveling west on the highway when it collided with the rear of an auto being driven by Catherine M. Reppert, 31, of 514 Maryland Avenue, LaVale.

Police said the Reppert car had stopped on the highway and the directional signal was indicating a left turn into the A&P supermarket parking area when the Keiling vehicle crashed into the right rear of the car.

Keiling apparently failed to observe the Reppert car, according to Trooper Kerr, who is continuing his investigation of the accident at 11:20 a. m.

Firemen Wash Down Scene Of Accident

West Side Fire Company was called to the Kelly Boulevard underpass yesterday at 3:44 p. m. when a car hit the underpass wall and was demolished.

Firemen stayed at the scene to wash down oil and gas which spilled from the wrecked vehicle. A second car involved in the crash was damaged slightly, authorities said.

Former President Visits Kelly Plant

Sewer Line Separation Study Set

Bids To Be Asked On Water Project

The Mayor and Council yesterday authorized the local firm of Delta Engineers to make engineering studies required to determine the most efficient means for separating sanitary and storm water sewers here.

The study would include sufficient cost data to allow the city to apply for federal matching funds under the proposed Water Pollution Control Act.

It will be designed to provide maximum relief to the sanitary sewer system that can be achieved through a $2,000,000 program.

The firm of Delta Engineers is headed by John I. Coleman and George Griffith.

In its offer, the firm agreed to work closely with City Engineer C. R. Nuzum in the preparation of the engineering study.

In other action, city officials authorized Water Commissioner G. Ray Light to advertise for bids for laying a 36-inch water line along an unnamed alley between Reynolds and Monroe Streets for a distance of 204 feet.

Royce J. Clayton, who has been serving as a detective since 1961, was designated, at his request, as a patrolman, effective October 14.

Finance Commissioner Frederick J. Hill reported October collections which included $771,106.92 on 1963 taxes.

City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery reported October collections of $731,45.

Parking meter revenues for the week ending October 27 totaled $839, an increase of $45.50.

Bids for 13 reefers for the Police Department were opened. Schwarzenbach's bid $861.25 and Metro Clothes, $830.05.

The Recreation Department reported it offered 56 hours of recreation in October and that attendance totaled 1,366 persons.

The Cumberland Sewage Treatment plant reported a daily flow of 2,833,896 gallons.

Miss Lowndes Funeral Is Tomorrow

A service for Miss Elizabeth Lloyd Lowndes, 82, who died yesterday morning at her residence, 27 Washington Street, will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. at Emmanuel Episcopal Church.

Rev. Noble C. Powell, retired bishop of the Episcopal Church in Maryland, will officiate and interment will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Active pallbearers will be Randolph Millholland, J. Glenn Beall Jr., George Schwarzenbach, Joseph Schriver, George E. North and Earl C. Robertson.

Honorary pallbearers will be Thomas G. Pullen Jr., John H. Mosner, G. William Bibby, J. Glenn Beall, Emil Schwarzenbach, William A. Gunter, Marion T. Powers, George Henderson, J. William Hunt, Elmer Reinhard, Dr. W. Fred Williams, John L. Wellington, James Alfred Alviret, Philip J. Arendes, Owen E. Hitchins, Joseph J. Duling, George G. Jeffries, Dr. Charles L. Kopp, William L. Wilson, John J. McMullen and Simon Rosenbaum.

Miss Lowndes, last surviving member of her family in Cumberland, had been ill two months.

The only daughter of the late Gov. and Mrs. Lloyd Lowndes, she was preceded in death by five brothers, William Bladen, Richard T. Charles T. Tasker G. and Lloyd Lowndes Jr.

Miss Lowndes was a member of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, a director of the Cumberland Fair Association, member of the Society of Colonial Dames, Republican Women's Club, McKinley Chapter 12, Order of the Eastern Star, and the Civic Club, of which she was president two terms.

Her ancestors included the families of four Maryland governors—Bladen, Lloyd, Plater and Tasker. Her brother Tasker, who died in 1952, was president of Second National Bank, a post once held by his father.

Survivors, none of whom reside here, include the following nephews and nieces:

Exchange Teacher Tells FHA To Know Other Lands

"As people of the world come into ever closer and closer relationship, it is most important that Americans have full sympathy with, and understanding for all nations," was voiced Saturday by Mrs. Irma Luna of El Salvador, Central America, Spanish teacher at Allegany High School, who was guest speaker at the fall meeting of Region A of the Maryland Chapter of Future Homemakers of America at Flintstone High School.

Pointing out that one of the important ways of understanding any nation is to know their customs and their life, Mrs. Luna discussed her country and then gave a general idea of some of the customs of Latin American countries.

Mrs. Luna talked about family life in her country and said that although most families have many servants, young girls of the family are taught to manage a household, to sew, do fine needlework, perhaps to cook. Most of the food is prepared in the homes and Latin Americans have learned to relish a good meal, to eat it without hurrying and to accompany it with good conversation.

How boys meet girls in Latin America was also discussed by Mrs. Luna who said that dancing and conversation are the usual ways to pass the time at the party.

Miss Ruth C. McColly, county supervisor of home economics, and regional adviser for FHA, said that all but one of the 17 chapters in Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties were represented at the meeting.

Region A officers for 1964-65 were elected and installed Saturday and include Eleanor Sloan, Valley Junior Chapter, chairman; Yvonne Nicol, Valley Senior Chapter, secretary and Kitty Washbaugh, Allegany Chapter, historian.

Two state officers who will be installed next April at the state meeting at College Park include Peggy Russell, Beall Chapter, second vice president and Sandie Dawson, Allegany Chapter, reporter.

Catherine Shipway, of Flintstone, state first vice president, presided at the meeting during which Andrea Bowden, Valley High, state FHA president, reported. (Continued on Page 6)

Final Report Of Planning Study Approved

Capital Spending Plan Is Proposed

The Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission last night approved the preparation of the final draft of the proposed Capital Improvement Program for the City of Cumberland.

By its approval, the board authorized the firm of Stein and Marcou Associates, the city's planning consultants, to incorporate the report in what will be known as the Comprehensive Plan for the city's development through 1980.

The report comprising suggestions for capital improvement programming, is designed to coordinate physical planning with financial planning, get the most use of public funds, insure financial stability of the city and provide full knowledge as to what lies ahead for public officials as they make necessary decisions.

Details of the report were discussed by the commission last night at a lengthy meeting in City Hall, when a number of suggestions were made by members.

The Capital Improvements Program is the final phase of the two-year planning study and will be printed in the final report being prepared by the firm as the final part of its planning contract.

During the session, the commission met with Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan concerning the proposal for industrial zoning of an area in South Cumberland.

Commission members explained the reasons behind the recommendation during the general discussion.

Local Man Is Convicted

A 42-year-old local man was sentenced yesterday to a year in the Maryland House of Correction on two counts of petty larceny following a hearing in Allegany County Circuit Court.

However, Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris suspended the sentence and paroled Guy D. O'Hara, 743 Maryland Avenue, on condition he keep the peace, be of good behavior and refrain from the use of alcoholic beverages.

O'Hara was tried on a criminal information and the state's case was presented Donald W. Mason, deputy state's attorney. The man was represented by Harold E. Naughton, who was appointed by Judge Harris.

City police arrested O'Hara last month and charged him with breaking into the apartment of Mrs. Lillian Williams, 123 South Mechanic Street, and taking a clock-radio and a steam iron valued at $58. He also was charged with taking an electric razor valued at $29 from James Talley of 25 Arch Street.

PE Sponsors Two Students, Teacher At Conference

The Potomac Edison System is sponsoring a delegation of two students and one teacher from this area to the fifth National Youth Conference on the Atom November 7-9 in Chicago.

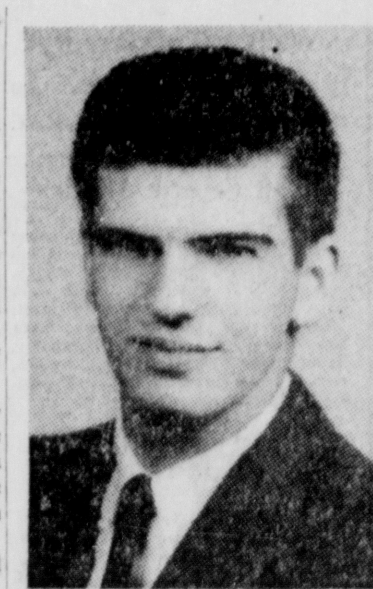

G. L. Johnson, manager of the Western Division of the power system, said the conference is designed "to present to a group of the nation's most able high school science students and teachers an authoritative and inspiring picture of the promise of the peaceful atom."

The conference will bring together more than 600 science students and teachers from across the nation. This is the fifth year PE has sponsored a delegation to the conference.

Attending from this area will be James F. Blubaugh, RD 1, Oldtown, a senior at Flintstone High School; Gary Milleson, RD 1, Springfield, W. Va., a senior at Ft. Ashby High School and Kenneth Ward, 123 Hampshire Street, Piedmont, W. Va., a teacher at Ft. Ashby high.

The students and teacher were selected by school board officials in cooperation with the electric utility company. Selection was based on overall grades, aptitude and interest in science and physics.

In Chicago, the students and teacher will attend lecture and seminar sessions featuring some of the nation's top scientists and will tour the Atomic Energy Commission's Argonne National Laboratory and the Dresden Nuclear Power Station, the first full-scale privately financed atomic power plant in America.

Among the noted authorities who will address the delegates is Dr. Lee C. Teng, Argonne National Laboratory's brilliant particle accelerator director. Dr. Teng and his group are now completing construction of a $47 million "atom smasher" that will have a designed energy-capacity of 12.5 billion electron volts.

Other scientists who will participate in the conference include Milton Klein, deputy manager of the joint AEC-NASA Space Nuclear Propulsion Office, which is engaged in the development of nuclear rockets; and Martin O. Stern, assistant chairman of the Experimental Physics Department at General Atomic Division of General Dynamics Corporation.

Dr. Stern is working in the controlled fusion program on rail guns used to accelerate plasmas, flying to Chicago.

KENNETH WARD

Four other students and two other teachers from the area served by PE will also attend the conference.

All nine delegates will attend a dinner with PE President R. G. MacDonald and other company officials today in Hagerstown. They will attend an Engineers' Breakfast Wednesday and will visit PE's R. Paul Smith power plant at Williamsport and the nerve center of the power company at Marlowe, W. Va., before flying to Chicago.

Site Of LaVale Recreation Area

George A. Emerson, left, treasurer of the LaVale Lions Foundation, and Harry W. Larrick, president of the organization, are going over plans for a recreation area on the site in the LaVale section. The LaVale Lions Foundation purchased land recently and work was to start this week to prepare a ballfield at the site. The area is located near Zeller's Addition off Braddock Road.
